HEARST RANCH, SAN SIMEON, Cal., April 14.

THE FLOWERS here are extraordinary. Roses, white, yellow, deep red, as big as one of Gov. Smith's brown derbies.

But farmers would be more interested in the hay than in the flowers. This ranch, of more than 200,000 acres, includes thousands of acres of such pasture as the average farmer has never seen or imagined. The rich grass is now higher than the horses' knees, and the wild oats higher than the grass.

THE 2,500 WHITE-FACED Hereford calves, soon to be branded, live in an earthly paradise, as perfect for them as the Garden of Eden for Adam and Eve.

In a few days the oats, that seed themselves every year, will be almost ripe, and the rainy season ended. The oats are mowed before the grain is ripe enough to fall, and piled in windrows to wait, with no grain falling, to supply cows, calves and steers with abundant rich food through the summer, after the grass dries.

Farmers like the writer, that must plough and replant hay every two or three years in New Jersey, or irrigate desert alfalfa with 1,000,000 pounds of water for every ton harvested, can appreciate such a ranch as this.

The yearling steers weigh nearly a thousand pounds on the average, and supply the demand for baby beef, and, more fortunate than ourselves, they die without pain, or worry as to where they go, next.

A SPOKESMAN for the Federal Reserve says the bank will fight "deflation," which means falling prices, by heavy buying of government securities.

Already the Federal Reserve has bought two hundred and fifty millions of the nation's securities, and the buying may continue until it reaches a billion.

This will give member banks a chance to change government securities for cash. If they put it in circulation, that will help. If they sit on it, to increase their "liquidity," that will be not so very good.

WHAT IS the difference between a government bond and money printed by the Federal Reserve? No difference, since each gets all its value from the government's promise to pay. The people pay interest on the bonds, money that need not be thus wasted, if the government would print what money it needs, discreetly and without the dreaded "inflation."

HUMAN BEINGS are much alike, on the Potomac or the rivers of Russia. Russia, in trouble decided to take everything for the government, and run all the nation's business.

Our thoughtful radicals feel that a better plan is to let the few big men get it first, and then take it away from them, thus avoiding the Russian method, but not by more than half an inch.

A MEXICAN orator, in a speech, furiously applauded, told his enthusiastic hearers:

"I may not be able to make you rich, but I promise to make the rich as poor as you are."

Loud applause, but the plan has not helped Mexico's finances.

The present American plan, appropriately, is that of the American eagle, himself. That noble bird likes fish and all meat, but according to ornithologists, does little hunting on his own account.

He sits watchful, until some other bird comes along, a fish hawk, with a big fish, or some other bird with a rabbit or field mouse. Then the American eagle pounces down and takes away the loot. The big industrialist or manufacturer is to play the part of fish hawk to Uncle Sam's eagle.

TICKETS FOR the Olympic games in Los Angeles are now on sale. Fred S. McCarger, of the Salinas Chamber of Commerce, invites you to come to the games through northern California, stopping on the way going or coming, to see the Salinas rodeo, July 20 to 24.

Those that visit California for the first time, they will number tens of thousands, should not fail to see San Francisco, the Golden Gate, Monterey peninsula, the big trees and all this coast as far north as Seattle. Good roads and good trains make it easy.

William Jeffery, president of the Northern California Hotel Association, and his associates urge you to come into California through the Nevada and Oregon gateways, thus seeing the national parks, the San Francisco and Oakland bay area, and all the other wonders. Come as you please, but do not fail to come if you can, and forget your troubles for a while.

HOW SHALL we mourn? Our race has done it, in curious ways.

The aged Hindu felt satisfied when he knew that his young wife would be piously burned alive with his worn out corpse. The British have stopped that. Voltaire, in his "Zadig," planned to stop it without violence or new laws.

He ruled that each young widow should spend the evening, before her burning, with the handsomest young man in the village. At the "burning gate," she did not appear, and the old husband went on his journey alone.

OHIO MINERS, MILITIA IN BATTLE

One Killed, Many Hurt as Bullets, Tear Bombs Ward Off Attack on Workers

STEUBENVILLE, O., April 14.—National Guardsmen and deputy sheriffs clashed with several hundred striking miners at the Somers mine of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company near Adena early today and one man was fatally shot. Several were injured and one was thrown into a creek.

Walter Kimball, 50, of Bradley, died in a doctor's office after the riot.

A battalion of the 145th Ohio National Guard was ordered held in readiness for strike duty at Akron after the officers here had called on the Adjutant General at Columbus for assistance.

MILITIA CONFERENCE

Adjt. Gen. Frank D. Henderson was en route by airplane from Camp Perry to Columbus. Gov. George White, notified of the disturbance, was keeping in close touch from Washington.

Col. John L. Volka, assistant Adjutant General, said if it is necessary to send out the troops, machine gun units will be rushed into the strike area first and will be followed by other infantry units. Hundreds could be placed on the scene within three hours, he said.

Strikers lined the road from Adena to the mine as hundreds of miners started to work early today. As the workers' cars passed along the road they were stoned and National Guard officers and deputy sheriffs formed a cordon for the cars. Tear gas bombs were hurled at the attackers at Georgetown.

AUTOS OVERTURNED

As the workers' cars neared Somers there was a rush for the automobiles and two were overturned. In the fighting Kimball was fatally shot. It was said the shot that killed Kimball was fired by a National Guardsman. The battle raged for more than an hour. National Guard officers wore gas masks. Several strikers were reported overcome by gas.

Sheriff Maurice Wooster and his deputies finally succeeded in dispersing the crowd by hurling tear gas bombs.

Before the riot, pickets are said to have gone from house to house warning miners not to go to work. John Moreland, one of the working diggers, told his callers in no uncertain terms that he did not intend to heed their order. He was taken from his home and thrown into a creek. Jefferson County officers were said to have been warned last night of the invasion plans. The riot occurred over the county line in Harrison County.

HONOLULU, T. H., April 14.—(INS.)—8:50 a. m., Honolulu time, 2:20 p. m., E. S. T.—Lieut. Thomas Massie will take the witness stand today or tomorrow and "tell all," Chief Defense Counsel Clarence Darrow informed International News Service exclusively shortly before the "honor slaying" trial got under way today.

By GILBERT PARKER
International News Service

HONOLULU, T. H., April 14.—Clarence Darrow, one of the greatest lawyers of modern times, today moved to the center of the arena to fight for the acquittal of Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue, American society woman, and the three naval men accused of the "honor slaying" of a native.

Darrow has tenaciously refused to give an inkling of what course he may pursue. It was learned that he may even waive the right to make an opening statement to the polyglot jury.

That he will make no routine effort to disprove the almost airtight circumstantial case that Prosecutor John C. Kelley has built seemed obvious from the casual interest of the defense in the cross-examination of the government's swift parade of witnesses.

Kelley announced that his case will be completed after Mrs. Esther Anita, mother of Joseph Kahahawai, takes the stand along

WOMEN RAP DRY LAW IN SENATE

600 Cheer Mrs. Sabin's Attack on Prohibition At Committee Hearing

International News Service

WASHINGTON, April 14.—More than 600 women from all parts of the country stormed a Senate hearing today to protest against the dry laws.

They cheered wildly at charges voiced by Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, national chairman of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform, that churches and dry organizations have become the chief allies of the outlaw classes.

They also applauded vigorously when Senator Hiram Bingham (Rep.), of Connecticut, declared that repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment is a "win-the-depression" question and when former Senator James W. Wadsworth, of New York, asserted that "the goal of repeal is now in sight."

HEARING TRANSFERRED

The Senate hearing room was too small to accommodate the witnesses and the crowd of women anti-prohibitionists, and Senator Blaine, chairman, was forced to order the session transferred to the Democratic caucus room. The women raced to that room to be sure of getting seats, disregarding the attempts of the capitol police to prevent them from running.

Mrs. Sabin said:

"Prohibition has not created crime; it has financed crime. No one can pretend any longer that the amendment is effective to promote temperance.

"The question is not one of drink. This is a national emergency, in which the security of our institutions is at stake, and the choice is between law and order and organized crime.

'PARTNERSHIP'

The prohibition law, which is a "curse to the social and governmental structure," thrives on the unconscious partnership of religious and dry groups with the outlaw classes, Mrs. Sabin insisted. She continued:

"The time has come to end this unholy alliance. I am here

PLANE SOARS OVER COAST IN NORTH

Flier Believed Again Scanning District Where Kidnapers Promised to Leave Child

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., April 14.—(AP.)—A seaplane, which residents of Martha's Vineyard believed carried Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in his search for trace of his kidnaped son, flew over the Vineyard today.

The seaplane, which flew high when over the residential sections, came from the direction of Cuttyhunk Island, 50 miles away, where Lindbergh recently tried to find his child in connection with the arrangement under which he paid $50,000 to the purported kidnapers.

After running along the coast the seaplane circled over the Gay Head Coast Guard station and then headed east into the general direction of Hyannis on the mainland.

Two officers of the New Jersey state police, whose identity was not revealed, were here yesterday and last night checking on previous reports regarding the case. They declined to discuss the case.

Kidnaping Gang Shrewdest In U. S., 'Jafsie' Says

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP.)—Dr. J. F. Condon, aged educator who as "Jafsie" paid a $50,000 ransom to supposed kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby, told reporters today the kidnapers comprised "the shrewdest band ever organized in this country."

About noon he walked from his Bronx home to a nearby drug-store and bought 100 stamps he said were for replies to letters he received about the kidnaping. He was besieged with questions, one

Candidates Oppose Dry and Blue Laws

Sun-Telegraph Poll Shows Sentiments Of Aspirants

By MARK SHIELDS

An overwhelming number of legislative candidates to whom the Sun-Telegraph mailed questionnaires asking their attitude toward repeal of the Snyder state enforcement act, repeal of the blue laws, local option or their opposition, and whether no increase in utility rates should be permitted until after hearing by the Public Service Commission, replied favoring:

Repeal of the Snyder act.

Repeal of the state blue laws of 1791.

Substitution of local option on Sunday observance.

Legislation for a hearing by the Public Service Commission before a change can be made in utility rates.

DIRECT REPLIES

The questionnaire, embracing four simple questions permitting a direct "yes" or "no" answer, was sent to every candidate of every party in Allegheny County whose name is on record with the State Bureau of Elections at Harrisburg. Each letter was registered, and for each a return receipt was requested, showing that the letter had been delivered. In only one case was failure recorded, and there the candidate had moved without leaving a forwarding address.

The questions were not sent to Senator James J. Coyne and E. J. Wuerthle, candidates for the Senate in the Forty-third District, the only section in which there is a senatorial contest. Their views will be secured later.

The letters were mailed March 26, and sufficient time has elapsed for every candidate to answer if he wished.

Many amplified their answers, but the majority who replied did so directly. A few wrote that they did not consider the questions important.

The replies are well scattered through the 13 legislative districts

Coolidge Homestead Wired for Lighting

PLYMOUTH, Vt., April 14.—(AP.)—The mellow glow of kerosene lamps which illumined the old Coolidge homestead nine years ago as Calvin Coolidge took the oath of office as President will shortly be supplanted by the white incandescence of electric lights.

Workmen today began the task of wiring the century-old farmhouse, preparatory to installation of a small electric power plant.

Writer of Famous Waltzes Hears Latest Song, Dies

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP.)—Robert A. King will never know whether his last song "One Day in May," is a hit or not. He died yesterday after listening to it over the radio.

It was not as though at 69 years Robert King had never written a hit. His "Beautiful Ohio" waltz has sold five million copies, which is a fortune. His "Moonlight on the Colorado" has been whistled in every state.

Victor Herbert, selecting "The World's Most Famous Music," a collection, included King's "America's Fair Women."

King had high hopes for his newest number. He had gone to a hotel to hear it played by a dance band. Returning home, he tuned in the radio early yesterday to hear it broadcast. Shortly afterward, complaining suddenly of pains in his breast, he died.

"Anona" and "Just Like a Rainbow" were King's stylus. His "Beautiful Ohio" was done under the name of "Mary Earl." He was 56 years old when he wrote it.

One of King's compositions was "I Scream, You Scream, We All Scream for Ice Cream."

POLICE CALLED IN BONUS ROW

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP.)—Bluecoats were called today to preserve order in the bonus hearing before the Ways and Means Committee after a delegation had demanded that it be heard out of regular order.

Stepping forward in the midst of the hearing, a man who identified himself as Samuel J. Stember, a representative of the Workers' Ex-Service Men's League, asked when his delegation would be heard.

Acting Chairman Crisp rapped for order and said they would not be heard at all unless they observed the rules of the committee.

Representitive Patman (Dem.) of Texas, has charge of witnesses in behalf of the legislation calling for payment of the $2,000,000,000 outstanding on the bonus certificates and the order in which they are presented is decided by him.

Despite Crisp's warning Stember persisted. He said:

"We have been waiting here several days and want to know when we'll be heard!"

Crisp pounded for order and then instructed the committee clerk to call a police guard.

Mayor Kills Dog In Death Battle

GOSHEN, N. Y., April 14.—(AP.)—A maddened shepherd dog and Mayor John F. Kane, of Goshen, fought a death struggle today which ended only when the Mayor, badly wounded, succeeded in choking the animal to death. Kane was treating the animal when it attacked him, tripped him and tore his arm and leg.

Firemen's Quarters Declared 'Firetrap'

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 14.—Fire Chief Harry Callan today moved 30 firemen and six pieces of equipment from Central Fire Station, declaring the 50-year-old building was a firetrap and that occupancy endangered the lives of his men.

The men and equipment were apportioned to sub-stations all a mile or more from the downtown section.

Detective Poses as 'Fence,' Traps Women, 3 Men

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP.)—The Glemby gems, worth $300,000, have been recovered.

The gems, stolen on the morning of last January 21 by men who forced their way into the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Glemby, were taken from two women arrested last night as they sought to dispose of the jewels for $50,000 to a policeman whom they believed to be a Seattle "fence." Three men also were arrested.

Even when the women believed they were about to dispose of the jewels to the "fence," they tried to rob him, too, for the jewels were in a paper bag carried by one woman, and another bag, identical in appearance, but containing crockery, was in the hands of the other. Police said the women, after showing the jewels and receiving the $50,000 intended to switch the bags and give the "fence" the one containing crockery.

The jewels were located only after several detectives had taken jobs in a hotel where the women lived. After satisfying themselves that these were the persons wanted, the officers called in another detective who posed as a Seattle jeweler and became attentive to one of the women.

Those arrested identified themselves as Helen Smith, 26, Ruby Golet, 43, Samuel Ippolito, and the brothers, Anthony and Joseph Indelicato.

Father Swindled, Girl Traps Suspect After 10 Years

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 14.—(AP.)—Miss Betty Robinson, of New Castle, Pa., today had the satisfaction of seeing Frank Max Shanklin, accused of swindling her father out of $14,000, behind the bars of city jail accused of fraud.

Miss Robinson, it was revealed, acted as Shanklin's secretary to "get the goods on him" in revenge for a swindle in Mercer County, Pa., 10 years ago.

Shanklin, who served a term in the Western Penitentiary in Pittsburgh for Mercer County oil and gas stock swindles in 1922, was arrested at a hotel here yesterday after Miss Robinson had applied for a warrant charging him with converting her property to his own use.

Police found that Shanklin had opened negotiations with an attorney to incorporate companies in five cities to handle a building material.

Shanklin was convicted in 1924 of fraudulent conversion in the Mercer County swindles. He was fined $500 and sentenced to two years' imprisonment. Records show he "jumped" his bond but was recaptured and served his term.

Many Mercer County residents testified they had lost thousands of dollars through his oil and gas stock schemes.

SPANG HEIRESS DIES IN FRANCE

Death claimed Miss Rosalie Spang, 47, last of the famous Spang family, pioneer iron manufacturers of Etna, at her winter villa, Les Marguerites, Nice, France, yesterday, according to word received here today.

Her body likely will be brought back to Pittsburgh and buried in Allegheny Cemetery beside an urn containing the heart of her brother, Norman, who died in France in 1922, relatives said.

Daughter of Charles F. Spang, one of the founders of the Spang-Chalfant Company, she was born in Etna but had spent the greater part of her life abroad, making occasional visits to this city.

According to a news dispatch from Nice, relatives are not agreed as to disposition of her estate, reputed to be valued at $1,000,000 or more. She also had a valuable art collection.

"I was lost before I went in there. Now I am even more lost," she declared. "But can one be more lost than lost?" she asked herself half aloud.

"I wish I knew," said a husky voice.

It seemed to come from some place just above her head. Alice was startled. She had thought that she was alone. Now someone was replying to a question which she had not asked anyone but herself.

She was even more surprised to find a very large mushroom in front of her. It was certainly the largest mushroom she had ever seen. Alice thought, for [illegible] a big girl, but it was so tall that she had to stand on tip toes to see the top of [illegible]

"Why I have never seen such a big caterpillar and I never knew one that could talk."

"You don't know much," growled the caterpillar.

"But what kind of a caterpillar are you?" Alice asked timidly.

The caterpillar took a puff from his hookah and blew a ring of smoke [illegible] Alice.

"I come," he said, "from a very large and very well known family—well known at least to entomologists. You're not an entomologist are you?"

"Oh, dear, no," Alice answered, quite horrified that he should think she was anything that sounded so dreadful.

"Then I shall have to tell you," said the caterpillar. "I come from a large and distinguished family of caterpillars known as holding companies. We are distinguished for the fact that we are the only caterpillars that spin webs. Our webs cover the entire country. They criss cross each other and form a perfect maze."

"Oh, you do that to catch things, like the spiders," Alice exclaimed, thinking that she was very smart.

"Not exactly," the caterpillar answered, "we don't like visitors. We build the mazes to keep people from finding us, checking up on us and telling us how to live."

"And are you the people that the Mockservice Corporation have to support?" Alice asked.

"Well, yes," answered the caterpillar, "they do our menial work for us in return for our excellent advice and knowledge of affairs. But of course we don't have to do very much ourselves. Besides advising the Mockservice Corporations we merely take in each other's washing for a living."

"But how does that do you any good?" asked Alice.

"Why we charged double?" exclaimed the caterpillar, looking at her as if he thought her very stupid.

The caterpillar lapsed into a dreamy silence so Alice stole away, taking care not to get tangled in any of his webs and getting even more lost than [illegible]

'HOLD STOCKS,' SMOOT'S PLEA TO PUBLIC

Senate Finance Chairman Declares Values Are Far Higher Than Quotations

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—An appeal for holders of stocks to keep them rather than liquidating at present prices was voiced in the Senate today by Chairman Smoot, of the Finance Committee.

Smoot said he wanted to say to the American people:

"If there is any way you can hold onto your stocks, hold them, because there is more intrinsic value back of all of them than they are showing on the market today."

He cited an unnamed stock which he said is selling on the New York Stock Exchange for $4.50, although actually in cash and goods the stock is worth $40.

He said he called attention to this "to show just where pessimism is leading the American people."

Meanwhile members of the Senate Banking Committee who have expressed dissatisfaction at the conduct of the New York Stock Exchange investigation, virtually agreed today to give right of way in the inquiry to administration charges of "bear raids."

Chairman Norbeck expressed the view that those who inspired the inquiry should be given a chance to prove their charges of "bear raids" to depress the market, before any change is made in the conduct of the inquiry.

His statement indicated that no attempt will be made to employ Samuel Untermyer, of New York, as counsel, until after the next meeting of the committee Monday, when Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, is scheduled to present the names of big "short sellers."

delivering the sentiments of 631,537 women. After all, women know the conditions of the family and the home perhaps better than any one, as they are affected by the atmosphere in which their children are growing up.

"We are convinced that national prohibition is fundamentally wrong, and has been disastrous in consequences in the hypocrisy, the corruption, the tragic loss of life and the appalling increase in crime which have attended the abortive attempt to enforce it.

URGES REFERENDUM

"We believe the people of the United States who have never had the opportunity to pass judgment upon this question should be given such an opportunity and that, therefore, that this may be accomplished in an orderly way, we urge the Congress to submit to conventions of the people in the several states rather than to the legislatures thereof, a resolution for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment."

BINGHAM TESTIFIES

The repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment is a "win the depression" question, Senator Bingham (Rep.), of Connecticut, testified before Mrs. Sabin took the stand. He said:

"It is impossible to make the descendants of generations of temperate drinkers believe there is anything morally wrong in drinking."

Bingham, author of legislation to legalize beer and for a state liquor control amendment, was followed by James W. Wadsworth, former Senator from New York, who represented the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. He said "developments of the last few years" led the organization to believe its goal of prohibition repeal "is in sight."

The grand jury is investigating alleged registration frauds in the Thirty-first Ward. It got under way today with the understanding that it would be interrupted this afternoon for consideration of charges against C. A. Bardolph, president of the closed Franklin Savings and Trust Company, Herman Friedman and others.

BOOKS BEFORE JURY

District Attorney A. T. Park and two of his assistants, George F. P. Langfitt and H. R. Phillips, guided the registration inquiry before the jury of 12 women and eight men.

Books of the Pittsburgh Registration Commisssion were taken before the jury and the anteroom was occupied by about 20 witnesses, including half a dozen women.

DARROW READY FOR MASSIE DEFENCE

with Joseph Kahahawai, Sr., the father, and two minor witnesses. The Kahahawais have been separated for years.

Kahahawai, for whose slaying Mrs. Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and two Naval enlisted men are on trial, was accused as the ringleader of five hoodlums who attacked Mr. Massie.

As the prosecution's case swept to its close and the defense prepared to fire its legal broadsides, all eyes turned toward Mrs. Fortescue.

The patrician society woman has given indications that her indomitable spirit is weakening. Yesterday, for the first time, she cried in court.

SOCIETY WOMAN WEEPS

Her tears came during the testimony of a police matron, who described how Mrs. Fortescue, when arrested, spoke tenderly of the bruises still carried by her daughter as ugly reminders of the brutal attack.

Like Mrs. Fortescue, Mrs. Anita also wept quietly in court. Her tears were occasioned by the sight of the rope with which the body of her son was bound.

That Kelley is a match for Darrow in deft legal stagecraft was apparent from his scheduling of Mrs. Anita as one of his final witnesses.

It is not considered likely that the native woman can add much to the mountain of circumstantial evidence against the four Americans, but her psychological effect on the jury is unquestioned.

In view of this, Darrow may seek an adjournment as soon as the state rests in order to start his case with a fresh day.

STARTLING TURN

That the government may develop new angles to its case as the trial wears on was indicated in a startling turn which was given to the testimony of John N. McIntosh, chief of the Honolulu detective force.

McIntosh, after testifying to his visits to the Massie house on the day of the kidnaping and shooting of Kahahawai, said that in the afternoon as Mrs. Massie prepared to depart for the Pearl Harbor Naval base, she took with her a small handbag. Kelley asked suddenly:

"Was this bag large enough to carry a .32 caliber revolver?"

"Yes, there was plenty of room for that."

Although the incident was not elaborated, those close to the prosecution believed that Kelley may later make an attempt to implicate Mrs. Massie herself in the plot against Kahahawai's life.

Whatever the defense plans may be, Darrow remained as secretive as he was confident.

MASSIE TO TAKE BLAME

The state believes he will place Lieut. Massie on the stand and have the young naval lieutenant shoulder the full blame for the shooting of the native.

Lieut. Massie would then be followed by two distinguished mainland psychiatrists, Drs. Edward Huntington Williams and Thomas J. Orbison, who would seek to establish that the shooting was in the line of justifiable homicide, the legal phrase that cloaks the "unwritten law."

Gov. Lawrence Judd and Kelley have conferred over this possibility, and the prosecutor has been promised financial aid from the territorial government if it is necessary to recruit alienists to aid the government's cause.

That Kelley, from a legal standpoint, has built a magnificent case against the four Americans was generally conceded. Even the gruff Darrow admitted his young opponent had used all his weapons to the best advantage.

Every known detail of the kidnaping of Kahahawai, by means of a fake warrant, from the steps of the "Hall of the Chiefs" has been laid bare, together with interlocking accounts of the halting of Mrs. Fortescue's sedan and the finding of the native's body within.

"Silent witnesses"—Kahahawai's clothing, his bloody shroud, buttons torn from his suit, towels from the Fortescue home where the killing assertedly took place, the rope used to bind the sheets that wrapped his body—have been introduced in evidence.

There were two missing links in the chain. No actual eye-witness to the shooting has been found, and the revolver with which the native was killed cannot be accounted for.

them, to wait upon them after death.

Primitive women, mourning, usually have expressed grief with lamentations and howling, sometimes lacerating their faces and breasts. In the East mourners are hired to express grief, as we hire hearses with black plumes.

Florence Rogge, who teaches dancing, says we should dance at our funerals, instead of weeping, not jazz dancing, but decorous, stately ballet movements. The old, of course, would not be expected to stand on their toe tips.

No public mourning or show of grief is displayed by the really civilized, but they are not numerous.

WHILE WE discuss our comparatively small troubles, our neighbors in South America have real worries, with mountain peaks in the Andes suddenly pouring out fire and smoke, with lava rushing toward the mountain cities.

Science seeks to discover the cause of these eruptions, and planes of the Pan-American Company sail back and forth over the smoking mountain tops, to report conditions. Earthquakes that arouse superstitious terrors add to the demoralization.

YOU WILL be glad to hear that Kansas City's "one pound baby" is alive, thriving and eating twelve meals a day. He has gained weight, in his first eight days.

Each of the twelve meals consists of one tablespoonful of milk. He has red hair and is named Charles B. St. John. Little at a time and often is a wise arrangement of meals for the very young and very old, and milk is good for everybody.

McCloskey Suspends Chief For Secret Council Guard

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 14 (AP)—The "truce of Johnstown" is broken.

Mayor Eddie McCloskey, the red-headed ex-pugilist, and the Council have been in strife since the Mayor took office in January. Council meetings have been held under police protection as a precaution against riots.

But last week everyone agreed to do away with the guard and to work together for the good of the city and the benefit of relief measures for the needy.

Today McCloskey appointed Harry F. Klink chief of police following the third suspension of Chief Charles E. Briney, pending investigation of why 16 policemen were found hiding in the basement after he had issued orders to have none in the building during the Council meeting.

The Mayor charges the Chief ordered them there despite his instructions.

Last night McCloskey's office had a sign on the door:

"This office should never be closed between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m., but since the Mayor of Johnstown is the only Mayor in Pennsylvania without a secretary—the Mayor is prevented from having a secretary by a four-to-one vote of Council—and since Councilmen Raudabush and Hurst are at all times interfering with the Mayor's office, I advise you to go to their office. If they butcher your affairs, I can't help you."

3 SOUGHT IN ATTEMPTS TO KIDNAP PENN TOWNSHIP GIRL

FATHER SEEKS STATE POLICE AID IN HUNT

Barbecue Man's Child, 12, Found Bound in Home; Now Kept Under Guard

Search for two men and a woman who made two unsuccessful attempts to kidnap Sarah Jane Longdon, 12-year-old daughter of Clarence Longdon, proprietor of the Maple Dell barbecue, Verona boulevard and Lincoln road, Penn Township, was to be taken up by state police today.

Longdon last night declared he would ask the state police to begin a search after county detectives who failed to find trace of the trio in a four-day undercover inquiry. Longdon has hidden his daughter in the care of friends, he declared.

The first of the alleged attempts to kidnap Sarah Jane occurred Saturday when Longdon found her bound and gagged in his home above the barbecue. On a bed he found a note which read:

"BE-WARE! of your child at 10 or 10:30 tonight. It will bring death to her."

It was signed "Black Paw."

The girl told her father a masked man bound and gagged her and declared he was going to kidnap her.

Shortly before he found his daughter tied Longdon told police a man had stepped out of an automobile to ask road directions. As he talked to the stranger the masked man entered Longdon's living quarters through a rear door and seized Sarah Jane, Longdon said he believed. The would-be abductor apparently took fright and fled.

SAW MASKED MAN

As the man who made the road inquiries drove away with a woman at his side, Longdon said he saw a masked man sitting in the rear of the car. He hurried upstairs and found his daughter bound.

Monday, while Sarah Jane was returning from the Benjamin Franklin School, a half-mile from her home, a woman and two men, one wearing a black mask, stopped their automobile in front of the school house. The woman called to Sarah Jane, but when the girl saw the masked man in the car she ran back into the school. The car sped away.

The child was kept out of school Tuesday. Yesterday she returned to school under a close watch to obtain a detailed description of the trio, but they did not appear.

Longdon said he had been engaged in the barbecue business for more than a year and had received several offers to sell his business but refused. He believed the kidnap attempts were being made to frighten him to leave his business.

CLARK PROBES GRAFT CHARGE

Admission made in Federal Court today by Saul Joseph Kasner, 50, alleged Hill district bootlegger, that he had paid Center Avenue police $5 a month for "protection," caused Director James M. Clark of the Public Safety Department to order an immediate investigation by Inspector Alfred Beebe of the downtown police district.

Kasner was fined $100 and costs when, after having pleaded guilty to liquor law violations, he charged police with giving him protection. Clark said he will summon Kasner before the Police Trial Board Wednesday and ask him to identify officers to whom he paid money.

In his order to Beebe Director Clark said that he wanted an immediate report on Kasner's charges, and that he wanted the inspector to determine whether any law violator was being protected by police in the Hill or downtown sections.

TALBOT RELIEF CHECKS READY

HARRISBURG, April 14 —(AP)— Officials of the state treasury today said checks representing the first payments to counties under the $10,000,000 Talbot poor relief act will be mailed tomorrow or Saturday.

Employes of the state treasury today began a check of the requisitions for the December, January, February and March payments, totaling $7,000,000. They expect to finish this work late today or early tomorrow.

When this work has been completed the requisitions will be returned to the Auditor General's department so that warrants for the payments may be drawn on the Treasury.

The work of preparing the warrants and drafting the checks will require little time. The money for the $7,000,000 now due the counties is in the treasury, officials said. Earlier in the week banks having state deposits were notified that withdrawals to meet the Talbot Act payments would begin within a few days.

JUDGE'S POWER TESTED BY MACKRELL

Register of Wills Seeks Decision on Trimble's Blocking of Appointment

Judge Thomas M. Marshall, of Common Pleas Court, is to rule next Thursday as to how much power Judge Thomas P. Trimble, of Orphans' Court, holds in the offices of the County Register of Wills.

Attorney Oliver K. Eaton today presented a mandamus petition before Judge Marshall asking that the County Controller be compelled to pay the salary of John W. Carson, appointed by Register Joseph N. Mackrell recently as a clerk at $150 a month, replacing John (Dude) Johnston.

Controller Robert G. Woodside held up Carson's pay on receipt of a letter from Judge Trimble which contended that all appointments in Mackrell's office must be approved by him as the Register of Wills holds a dual role as clerk of Orphans' Court.

Eaton's petition contends that Orphans' Court's power applies only to such of Mackrell's appointments as are made by him as Clerk of Court and not to those which he makes as Register of Wills.

Judge Marshall set one week from today as the time for Controller Woodside to show cause as to why Carson's check should not be issued.

VETERAN STAR OF CIRCUS DIES

NEW YORK, April 14 —(AP)— William (Billy) O'Dale, a circus headliner of 35 years ago, died of pneumonia today at Bellevue Hospital.

Seventy-three years old, O'Dale was of the age that knew such figures as Orrin Hollin, Homer Hobson, Charlie Fish and William Scholles. He was a bareback rider in the days when the horse jumped through huge paper-covered hoops and dived through rings of fire.

He spent his life with the circus, and was with the old Barnum show, the Sells-Floto and Forepaugh-Sells. At the height of his career he was outstanding for his act with four horses and a somersault from one to another.

JOBLESS LOOT AUCKLAND

WELLINGTON, N. Z., April 14 —(INS)— Defying the combined opposition of British bluejackets, police and militia, a mob of 10,000 unemployed rioters swept through the city of Auckland today, wrecking shops, theaters and hotels and looting indiscriminately.

The outbreak of lawlessness came virtually without warning. Four young girls in the van of an unemployment parade suddenly smashed the window of a jewelry store and seized a trayful of rings, precipitating a reign of mob rule.

British bluejackets were landed from the training cruiser Philomel stationed in Auckland harbor, when local police, reinforced by the naval corps and army reserve troops, found themselves unable to cope with the situation.

The Mayor ordered all able-bodied citizens to report to police headquarters immediately. They were enrolled as special constables, armed with batons, and sent out into the streets to aid in quelling the rioters. At midnight, the authorities said, they were in control of the situation.

KEY TO BIERCE MYSTERY SEEN IN JUNGLE

Believe Man Encountered in Brazilian Wilds May Have Been Vanished Writer

BUENOS AIRES, April 14 —(AP)— A possibility that Ambrose Bierce, American writer and adventurer, who disappeared mysteriously in 1914, might be the white man seen by Stephan Rattin, Swiss trapper, in the Brazilian jungle, was discussed here today.

Rattin said he believed the man was Col. P. H. Fawcett, missing British explorer.

But a former soldier of fortune here, who asked that his name be withheld on account of his present position, told of hearing from an aged guide named Johnson in 1924 that on an expedition into the interior several years before he encountered a white man named Pierce or Pearce with the Murcielago Indians.

MANUSCRIPTS LOST

The man, he said, was fairly tall and thin with a fair mustache and long hair reaching to his shoulders. He carried spectacles but seldom wore them, the guide said, and the Indians called him "the four-eyed man."

The man gave Johnson a bundle of manuscripts, he said, asking him to mail them to an address scribbled on them, but the manuscripts rotted from the hide in which he carried them and the address was undecipherable when he returned to civilization.

The narrator said Johnson showed him some of the rotted manuscripts and that they appeared to have been written between 1913 and 1916.

REPORTS ON FATE DIFFER

Ambrose Bierce disappeared in Mexico in 1914. There have been stories that he died in battle at Torreon, Mexico, with Pancho Villa's rebel forces, that he was seen in South America after his disappearance in Mexico, that he was driven from Villa's camp and shot and that he deliberately walked to death by heading into the enemy lines at Chihuahua City.

He would be more than 85 years old if he were alive now.

CHILD'S INJURY WINS PAROLE

His 12-year-old daughter near death from an auto injury, Stanley Jeskowich, of Mollenauer, sentenced to three months in jail on April 6 for a liquor law violation today was placed on a year's parole and hurried from the jail to his daughter's bed in the South Side Hospital.

The child, Dorothy, one of five in Jeskowich's family, was run over by a truck near her home this morning. Constable Ben Smith went to the hospital and found her condition serious. He and Attorney Louis Bowitz went before Judge Frank J. Graff hoping to obtain permission to take the prisoner from the jail to his daughter's bedside.

Instead, Judge Graff, when told of the girl's injury and the needy circumstances of her four brothers and sisters and an ailing mother, ordered the father placed on parole for a year and released at once.

HERO OF TITANIC PARALYZED ON POOR FARM

Second Mate, Who Saved Scores of Lives in Sea Tragedy, Now Friendless

SANTA ROSA, Cal., April 14. —(AP.)— Twenty years ago Charles Herbert Lightholder, second mate of the liner Titanic when she struck an iceberg and sank with loss of 1,513 lives, was dragged from the chilly waters of the North Atlantic and hailed as a hero.

Today Lightholder, friendless and alone, a patient at the Sonoma County Hospital and Poor Farm, suffering from paralysis, which has rendered helpless his right arm and side.

Lightholder was one of the four ship's officers rescued.

He personally directed the rescue of scores of men, women and children. After the disaster Lightholder, native of Australia, joined the merchant marine and for years was master of ships in that service. Forced ashore by advancing age, he came here three months ago hoping to make a living by constructing ship models. He was last engaged when stricken.

TALE OF HEROISM

Facing newspaper files tell of Lightholder's graphic testimony before the United States Senate investigating committee. Senator William Alden Smith, of Michigan, asked him:

"What time did you leave the ship?"

Lightholder replied:

"I didn't leave it."

"Did it leave you?"

"Yes, sir."

Lightholder testified he stood atop the officers' quarters as the ship plunged beneath the surface, dived with him, and was blown to the surface apparently by explosion of the ship's boilers. He came up near a lifeboat.

Col. Archibald Gracie, U. S. A., had a similar experience.

FILLED LIFEBOATS

Lightholder said he filled five lifeboats with women and a sixth with men and women before the ship sank.

"Did you see any attempt to get women to go who would not?"

"Yes."

"Why would they not go?"

"I hadn't time to learn."

The second mate said he was sucked against a blower as the ship went down and held there.

"Head above water?"

"No, sir. A terrific gust came up the blower—the boilers must have exploded—and I was blown clear."

CHINESE REDS MENACE CITY

PEIPING, April 14 —(AP.)— Chinese Red armies in Fukien province were converging on Changchow today and the city was in immediate danger of capture, reports to the United States legation here said.

Changchow is on the mainland, directly opposite Amoy. All Americans on the mainland, most of them missionaries, were preparing to proceed to Amoy, the dispatch said.

The British consul requested a gunboat to protect British interests.

Gen. Chang Chun, Chinese governor of Fukien, was preparing to resist the Red attack and commandeered automobiles and trucks for the use of the provincial troops.

AMOY, China, April 14 —(AP.)— British missionaries at Changhow, 28 miles west of here, began leaving for this place today as the result of the approach of large bodies of Chinese Communist troops retreating before the Kwangtung provincial troops.

Foreigners here were uneasy and the British officials asked the British Asiatic fleet to send a warship to protect the port.

Japanese Sentenced For Consul Attack

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP.)— The State Department was advised today that a Japanese military laborer, Yoshioaso, had been sentenced to seven days of detention for an assault on Arthur R. Ringwalt, American vice consul.

The absentees, who have been conferring with Col. Charles A. The one here now acting as spokesman is the Very Rev. H. Dobson Pearrock, rector of Christ's Episcopal Church.

Dr. Dobson Pearrock said twice that if he told all he knew he would have optimistic news indeed, but added that disclosure would hamper future work. He said he was in constant communication with Curtis and Burrage and that he thought they would return shortly, with reports of progress.

PORTES GIL OUT OF POLITICS

MEXICO CITY, April 14.—(AP)—Emilio Portes Gil, one-time provisional president of Mexico and subsequently minister to France, announced last night that he was retiring completely from Mexican politics.

"One sees a beautiful girl on the campus and thinks to what great heights American womanhood has risen, and then she speaks.

"Students spend a great deal of time, intermittently, I admit, on their personal appearance. You can spruce yourself up for an important social engagement, but you cannot suddenly acquire a charming speaking voice for the occasion."

MOTHER, SON WED SAME DAY

Mrs. Olive Cooper Cole, formerly of Pittsburgh and more recently the founder of the Women's International Smoking Society, was married in New Jersey for the fourth time April 2, on the same day as her son, George (Buddy) Cole, a dancer, friends here learned today.

When Mrs. Coles first husband, George Cole of Pittsburgh, died she married Michael J. Stock, better known as Michael Scott, New York musical director and orchestra manager. She divorced him and married Rudolph Spiro, New York antique dealer. He in turn was divorced and Mrs. Cole 10 days ago married A. Palmer Mathews, manager of the Claremont Theater, One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street and Broadway, New York.

GOODWILL ASKS MORE BUNDLES

The bundle drive of the Pittsburgh Goodwill Industries, Liberty avenue and Twenty-eighth street, went into its third day today, with the Rev. A. G. Curry, director, appealing for greater co-operation among the well-to-do that destitute families might be aided by cast-off clothing, he said.

"On the success of this drive depends the comfort, indeed the living, of thousands of poor and unemployed people. We hope all families having unwanted clothing will not fail to send their bundles to school by tomorrow at the latest. Boy Scouts will be at the schools to receive the bundles. Trucks will call for them."

HITLER DEFIANT OVER BAN

By EDWARD L. DEUSS
International News Service

BERLIN, April 14.—Our political foes have given us exactly the opportunity we hoped for.

With these words Adolf Hitler, brilliant Fascist leader, today launched more spiritedly than ever into the campaign in each country of the Prussian Diet through the coming election, undismayed by the government's seizure of the famous Brown Shirt army of more than 400,000 men. He said:

"Let them dissolve my organizations. They can't chop off the heads of the members, and as long as they have heads and hearts they will be devoted to me."

Just what calm events would take remains to be seen. Violence is expected to break out immediately after the ban was announced, while police throughout the country raided the party headquarters and seized equipment, failed to materialize.

There still was danger of this, however. Hitler declared, for the Nazis would be responsible for the acts of his army, while the government had taken away the control of the followers.

20 Canaries Seized In 1-Room Zoo Up for Sale

Twenty canaries will be auctioned at a sale at the Western Pennsylvania Humane Society headquarters, Bigelow boulevard, Monday, society officials announced today.

The birds, with seven cats, were taken from a one-room apartment at 212 Stockton avenue, North Side, by police led by E. M. Smith, Humane Society agent, yesterday.

The cats were taken to the Animal Rescue League.

BROKERS SUE FOR $432,500

John H. Glass, trustee of Willard Nixon, individually and as surviving partner of Cadig Nixon & Co., bankrupt, who prior to January 27, 1926, conducted a general brokerage business in Oil City, yesterday filed an action in Federal Court, seeking to recover $432,500 from James E. Brown, Ogden M. Edwards, Jr., and Albert G. Weis, investment brokers, operating as Morris Brown & Co., Pittsburgh.

According to the statement of claim, $432,500 in money and securities was paid to the defendant company by the firm of Cadigan, Nixon & Co., within four months of the filing of an involuntary bankruptcy petition in 1926 against Cadigan, Nixon & Co. Glass declares the latter concern was insolvent at the time and the sum was paid to the defendant company in preference to other creditors.

Explorer Tells Of Thrills On WCAE

HAROLD G. McCRACKEN noted explorer and author who appears at the Davis Theater with his film "Explorers of the World," starting tomorrow, is interviewed tonight at 6:45 over WCAE on the strange experiences he has encountered in the far corners of the world. McCracken, who appears in the film with five other famous explorers, including Sir Harold Noice, Lieut. Commander J. R. Stenhouse, Gene Lamb, James L. Clark and Lawrence M. Gould, second in command of the recent Byrd expedition, penetrated the heart of Siberia on his most recent expedition for the Museum of Natural History of New York City. Among other things McCracken will tell WCAE listeners how man came from Asia to America and how close the two continents really are.

Mr. McCracken

Frazier Hunt, NBC interviewer, sails from San Francisco for the Orient a week from today, beginning his six-month trip around the globe. He will broadcast from Honolulu, Tokio, Shanghai, Manila, Bangkok, Cairo, Rome, Berlin, Paris and London. Beginning April 26, Hunt's narratives about outstanding personalities will be replaced on KDKA by dramatizations, the first centering about Alexander Hamilton.

Program Pointers

DOROTHY DELL, Ziegfeld stage discovery and Miss Universe of 1930, sings as guest artist with Rudy Vallee and Ray Perkins over WCAE during the Sunshine Hour tonight at 8. Miss Dell, who was in Pittsburgh last season as featured star in the "Follies," is making her network debut. Tonight's program originates at WFI Philadelphia where Rudy is appearing with the "Scandals."

Miss Dell

Piloting his "Magic Carpet," Walter Winchell takes WCAE listeners at 10 tonight to Chattanooga, Tenn., for the music of Tommy Tucker's Orchestra, making a split-second switch to Cincinnati for Gus Arnheim and his band. A week from tonight Don Bestor goes on Winchell's program from Cleveland.

Julian Thompson, businessman whose hobby is writing plays, and whose latest work, "The Warrior's Husband," is now having a successful run on Broadway, is the guest of Allie Lowe Miles, Bath Club interviewer, over WJAS at 8.

Eugenia Leontovich, scintillating star of "Grand Hotel," at the Alvin Theater, is interviewed by Stewart Irwin on WWSW at 6.

Fan Fare

WELCOME LEWIS, the tiny NBC songbird, has to have the microphone lowered to the four-feet-six level. One of her host of admirers sent her a glass slipper the other day with a note that he would mail her a proposal of marriage if the shoe fit. It was too small.

Lawrence Tibbett has signed a new contract assuring his continued appearances throughout the spring on that tire program. And incidentally, it is reported that the first Mrs. Tibbett, recently divorced, is to enter radio work soon.

Miss Lewis

Many radio artists often perform from the same studios and never become acquainted. But Alex Gray and the Boswell Sisters have been performing with the same orchestra for the same sponsor and didn't meet until the other day. Even then the introduction did not take place at the studio. They met at a ball.

Billy Baxter, the KQV tenor, has moved from a morning to an afternoon spot, and now gives his imitations of radio singers Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4:45. In addition to his Sunday appearances with Louis Sturchio's band at 2:30.

Question Box

In national hook-ups are programs carried from the studio to the chain stations by wire or by wireless or both? R. B. F., Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

The programs go over a specially balanced telephone circuit to the transmitting stations. For instance, red network programs originating at WEAF in New York go over the special circuit to Schenectady, Cleveland, Chicago and eastward again toward Pittsburgh and WCAE, which is at the end of the circuit. WCAE studio programs go over a specially balanced telephone circuit to WCAE's transmitting station on the South Side and then out over the air.

Sailing Day

Here is my heart to look at when you will,
Thrilling beneath the beauty of your eyes.
Beating a lonely ballad, dear, until
I see you coming my way, gypsy wise.

Here are my lips to wear upon your hair
When stars are twinkling in the sea of night.
Look down the moon-lit highway . . . I'll be there Calling to you across the murmuring light.

Days shall be wingless birds while you are gone
Night shall be like a sweet song—out of tune—
Dawn shall be hard to rise and gaze upon
When dawn—and dusk and night were such a boon.

Here is my heart to do with what you may—
I shall not need it while you are away.

—Gypsy K.

"Here's half of it," said Russell, "now we're both out five."

Not New, But Clean

One of the better stories is the one Bud Stevenson recalls about the ham magician who insisted upon showing off his tricks to anyone with patience while the liner was on the seas. His parrot, however, was bored and it hissed every time the magician did a stale trick.

Suddenly the ship stopped with a jerk and the magician went overboard. The parrot leaped to the rail and watched its master come up three times and disappear forever.

Flapping its wings enthusiastically it chirped:

"Marvelous, marvelous."

It was in one of the former restaurants where the tariff is deep and the patrons get dizzy from looking down on each other.

The tables were occupied by men about town and their ladies but most of the diners were types who merely put up a front.

"Oh, dear," sighed one woman "as I look about me I realize what a lot of four-flush there is in New York."

"I don't agree with you at all," replied her escort. "New York is the greatest experimental laboratory in the world—where you get the acid test, and either come through in gilt-edge—or tin."

Mme. Leontovich Is Happy But Yearns to Play Lucrezia Borgia

BY GEORGE SEIBEL

The other day I met a happy woman. They are almost as rare as happy men. This world is more or less a place where people are fighting after happiness and it eludes them, but they get a certain amount of fun out of the chase, so they keep fighting. But Eugenie Leontovich, who is the starred player of "Grand Hotel," in the Alvin Theater, thinks she has caught up with her hopes and dreams. After years of struggle she is an actress with a recognized place in the theatrical skies.

Mr. Seibel

She has [illegible] had ever [illegible] with [illegible] ists with all the "temperament." I told her I never [illegible] that on close acquaintance [illegible] were all sane and normal. But she recalled some stories that indicate this temperamental [illegible] side. She knew one great Russian actor we shall not name [illegible] who used to beat his head against the scenery in despair of doing his best. Such fits of despondency she says, are unknown to the theater artist. But they are as passing clouds.

America has had some actresses who became [illegible] "the Duchess" [illegible] another, all Russia Modjeska was one of these. Fanny Janauschek another. Nazimova a third. I told Mme. Leontovich that American lovers of drama were hoping her career would be similar. That made this happy woman still happier.

But I believe she was happiest of all when I told her that her voice reminded me very much of the most marvelous speaking voice that ever came across the Atlantic, the voice of Sarah Bernhardt.

There is something in Leontovich's tones, how [illegible] and low-despairing, which [illegible] like the tones of the divine Sarah. That sounds somewhat enthusiastic, and critics really should not be enthusiastic. The Hon. Mr. Stroheim wouldn't know them. But I can still remember the voice of Sarah Bernhardt, and I cannot help it if the voice of Mme. Leontovich reminds me of her. And [illegible] way it makes Mme. Leontovich happy and a happy woman in this sort of weather helps to put the blue back into the sky.

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

IT HAPPENED, they say, at a famous college in the middle west. The president of the university is a young man and his wife is a woman in her early twenties. She's an extremely attractive girl, they tell me, and she looks more like some bouncing co ed than the spouse of a university president. Which only goes to prove that you never can tell. And if you could, what of it?

Well, one afternoon there was a party. But it was a party in name only. The wives of the various professors sat around and drank tea. A few selected students were invited, and they listened politely as a young harpist with a large nose poured soulful music into the air. It was all just about as thrilling as an empty speakeasy.

For no particular reason, a freshman wandered in. Although I would be the last one in the world to believe it, I have been told there has been some drinking going on in our American universities, and this in spite of prohibition. I hold no stock in the thought, mind you, but I do happen to know that this freshman was on the verge of being cockeyed. Otherwise, why would he have gone to such a party in the first place?

The young man stood in the doorway and surveyed the situation. He looked at the various women and turned up his nose, muttering:

Not a decent dame in the joint.

He turned to go. And as he did so his eyes opened wide. There, in a corner, was something really worth while, as pretty a damsel as his youthful eyes had ever gazed upon. Where had she been all his life? He nodded with satisfaction and staggered off in her direction.

The pretty girlie was engaged in one of those conversations with an elderly woman. And she was actually talking as though she was interested in what she was saying.

"It's exactly as you say, Mrs. Caldwell," she was chirping. "The study of advanced algebra has a definite effect on any young man's career. The average person, of course, would laugh at such a statement. Those who do not understand could hardly be expected to know how a brain can be sharpened by the study of something that is, on the surface, a dull subject.

"Take the case of President Hoover, for example. Did he ever dream that—"

By this time, the freshman had slid into the chair beside her. He touched her arm.

"I beg your pardon," he said semi-intelligently, "but do you mind if I sit next to you?"

The charming young thing flashed him a soft smile.

"Certainly not," she returned. "Just make yourself as comfortable as possible."

She turned back to the elderly woman. There was a smattering of polite applause, and out trotted the harpist once more. The freshman did something that the entire room was probably dying to do. He yawned to his heart's content. And then he nudged the damsel beside him.

"Enjoying yourself?" he whispered.

"Very, very much," replied the girl. "I think it's all very interesting. Such lovely people. And that harpist is quite fine, don't you think?"

The young man shook his head vigorously.

"Not at all," he asserted quickly. "And don't you kid me, either. I'm plenty bored. And if you wanted to say so, I'll bet you'd agree with me."

The lady shrugged her shoulders.

"I assure you, sir," she said, "that you are quite mistaken. I am enjoying myself thoroughly."

Once more she turned away. But by this time the young man was thoroughly warmed up.

"Listen, kid," he murmured. "I'm going for you in a big way. Let's you and I breeze out of here when nobody is looking and spend the rest of the afternoon by ourselves."

The pretty lady jumped to her feet.

"Why, how dare you, sir?" she cried. "Do you know who I am?"

"No," replied the youth. "Who?"

She clenched her fists.

"I, sir," she said angrily, "am the wife of the president of the university!"

The freshman gulped. Beads of perspiration stood out on his forehead. Suddenly he stiffened.

"I'm glad to hear it," he said. "And do you know who I am?"

"No," snapped the lady.

"Thank God!" cried the youth fervently. And he ran like the devil . . .

ALTHOUGH I have frequently been accused of it, I do not seek to glorify gangsters or racketeers. I try only to report the human interest that I find in so many of their stories. This is a sample of what I mean:

Al Capone's son, now 13 years of age, does not know of his father's present difficulties. As soon as it looked as though the story might break in the papers he was taken from the school in which he was studying and placed with a private tutor. The instructor now lives with young Capone, and the boy is never permitted to read a paper containing any report about his father's incarceration.

The youth was told that his father would be in Florida for Easter. Instead he received a letter, a letter from his father that told him he would not be able to get South at the moment because the trains from Chicago were tied up due to a heavy snowfall. The boy accepted the alibi without question.

He has no knowledge of the fact that he may not see his father for 11 years.

Germany and China in Metro

THE GLOBE TROTTER

The dead city of Chapei has been reopened by the Japanese who destroyed it, to enable the Chinese refugees to salvage the belongings that remain in the ruins. Pitiful pictures of the return of the homeless to the scenes of desolation are contained in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News, being seen in the Penn, Fulton and other theaters with a graphic description by The Globe Trotter. There are scenes of the League of Nations inquiry commission, headed by Lord Lytton, making its first visit of inspection to Chapei.

More than 150,000 persons gathered in the Lustgarten in the shadow of the Schloss in Berlin to greet Adolf Hitler, leader of the Socialists, in the final rally before the voting in which President Hindenburg was re-elected by more than 6,000,000 votes. There are also street scenes in Berlin with thousands cheering President Hindenburg, who is also seen and heard.

MILITARY MANEUVERS

United States Field Artillery men conduct thrilling maneuvers across country at Fort Sill, Okla. Horses dragging caissons and gun-pull through streams and up and down steep banks at terrific pace. The picture ends with an impressive firing drill.

Dixie mermaids at Silver Springs, Fla., indulge in an underwater obstacle race in an immense glass-sided pool through which Metrotone cameramen are able to photograph all the details of the contest.

WHISKERS RETURN

Whiskers are coming back in France. A contest is held in Paris to decide who has the most perfect beard . . . if any. The winner admits that he has been training his crop of alfalfa for 46 years.

Legislative Candidates' Answers to Quiz

of the county, showing among those who answered as much wet sentiment and opposition to the blue laws from districts outside the city as within the boundaries of Pittsburgh.

The proportion of present members who failed to answer the questionnaire was as large as the proportion of failure to reply among those not now in office.

In the Twelfth District, where there are 55 candidates on the various party tickets, 30 failed to answer, and included in the 30 were three of the candidates who have been slated by the regular organization. The four slated Independents returned replies as did Representative Joseph G. Steedle, and all gave an affirmative reply to the four questions.

Of the more than 250 candidates of all parties in the 13 districts, 121 were not sufficiently interested in the opportunity to set their views before the voters to make reply. Their names are appended to the table in each district showing those who did make reply and how they voted. Of 24 members of the Legislature seeking re-election 11 made no reply.

The tables follow. "Do you favor repeal of the Snyder act?" being question No. 1. "Do you favor repeal of the blue laws?" No. 2. "Do you favor local option on blue laws?" No. 3 and "Do you favor legislation prohibiting increase in utility rates without hearing and decision by the Public Service Commission?" No. 4.

TEN YEARS BEFORE YOU LOSE YOUR FIRST TOOTH

—that tooth may have been selected by pyorrhea as its FIRST victim

You may save yourself a lot of grief and worry several years from now if you do a little something today. Ask your dentist. He may know that pyorrhea is one of the main causes of half the teeth which are lost. But by now that pyorrhea may be present for years before it takes a single tooth.

When you hear that four out of five people past 40 have pyorrhea, please remember that the cases are recognized. At a much younger age pyorrhea may mark its victims and the victims not even know it. Guard against both. Take these two precautions now, right now. First, be sure not to forget the address of your dentist. Visit him twice a year, anyway. He is a real friend indeed. Second, use a dentifrice that does more than clean your teeth. It should help firm the gums and tone better. Firm gums are very important, because without healthy gums Dr. R. J. Pyorrhea's name as a pyorrhea and his exclusive formula are to be obtained by the Forhan's Toothpaste may mark the start of pyorrhea. Prevent it this way. Take it and be sorry.

RELIEF WORKERS REPORT PROGRESS IN DRIVE

POLITICS

C. M. Barr Directing Legislative Slate

By MARK SHIELDS

The most interesting situation in Allegheny County politics today is the effort of County Commissioner C. M. Barr to organize leadership on Independent Republican lines, at least for this campaign. Of the Independent leaders who loom most prominently in public attention Mr. Barr almost single-handed is endeavoring to elect the fourteen of a ticket for the Legislature in all but one district of the county.

Mr. Shields

Mr. Barr's activities include election of Gen. Smedley Butler as United States Senator. He is for Ralph Flinn for Auditor General, but the bulk of his effort is directed toward legislative places for those he is backing including E. J. Wheeldin against Senator James J. Coyne.

Separate Staff Has Charge of Campaign

The best evidence of Barr's captaincy is the creation of headquarters for the legislative slate apart from that occupied by the committee supporting the statewide ticket. Indeed not all of the workers in the statewide headquarters are wholeheartedly for the Independent legislative fate though County Chairman Ralph Smith and Barr are co-operating closely.

But there are some who remember that County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern weeks ago said he was not interested in a legislative ticket, and there has been no public evidence that this Independent leader has altered this decision. So some McGovernites see this "slate" as a Barr movement rather than a joint Barr-McGovern movement, and resent the elimination of some candidates.

There is not a hint in their attitude that they feel a Barr victory might make him rather than McGovern the dominant factor in Independent politics in the county, though it is emphatically here pointed out that there is not the slightest suggestion of a fundamental split between the two majority Commissioners. Barr has simply decided to chance a mass movement, and McGovern in the hospital with a fractured ankle, is silent thus far.

Barr started in the legislative fight with Coyne as a target, though the Senator has not been denounced by McGovern. From this it was only a short step to a slate for the lower house of the Legislature with which might be termed the Barr rather than the McGovern contingent most active in its furtherance.

Former Pinchot Aide Acting as Secretary

In charge of the centralized headquarters is Charles Ferguson, formerly an investigator in the State Department of Revenue appointed by Gov. Pinchot. During the last legislative session he was prominent about legislative headquarters. At the beginning of the present campaign I was surprised to see him around the regular organization headquarters in the William Penn Hotel, where Senator Coyne, Barr's pet aversion, is directing affairs.

Now Ferguson has become secretary of the committee supporting the legislative slate directed by Commissioner Barr.

The progress of this slate, comprising some excellent men who have adopted a constructive platform (though some members of the slate have declined to answer simple questions asked by this newspaper) will be watched closely in both independent and organization ranks. It may well have a future effect on leadership so far as is concerned the influence of Commissioner Barr, a gentleman who goes most vigorously for any goal he sets for himself.

MIDNIGHT SHOW RIVER VICTIM IDENTIFIED

The body of a man recovered from the Allegheny River near the Sixth Street Bridge Tuesday was identified at the county morgue last night as that of William J. Doyle, 26, of 420 Third avenue.

Edward J. Doyle, a brother of 117 First avenue, who identified the body, told Deputy Coroner Mullen Jackson he had not seen his brother since Saturday. Doyle's body was recovered by river patrolmen who dragged the stream after being told that a man swimming in the water sank after five shots had been fired from the bridge Sunday morning. No marks of violence were found on the body.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 14.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Floyd Gibbons has been out here telling me all that I missed in China. The night before I would leave all the towns, I would make a speech to all the assembled Americans, then the war would break out. Then on top of all Floyd's valuable information I had a chat with Sir Victor Sassoon, who knows more about China and India than any man. He is to those countries what J. P. Morgan is to us. We have to get his O. K. to see if we can have sugar with our coffee. Gibbons and Sassoon both feel that Japan is holding Manchuria till Russia is in shape to take it over. China returns to civil war now til' some other outsider shows up. So pacifists haven't much to look forward to in the Far East.

SUBWAY REPORT STILL HELD UP BY BOARD

Transit Commission Meets For Study of Project; Decision Next Week Seen

The City Transit Commission is meeting today to consider its report to City Council on the construction of a subway. It was understood the report may not be ready before next week.

Accused of undue delay by Norman F. Brown, engineer who designed the latest subway plan, members of the Transit Commission have been silent other than to speak in general terms about the problems involved.

COMMISSION'S POWER

The Transit Commission is empowered by law with considerable executive as well as planning authority. It is pointed out that if the subway is constructed the commission will have complete control over the project, even outranking the City Department of Public Works.

Walter S. Haydock, Transit Commission engineer, has been studying the costs of the plan submitted by Brown and Edward Snodgrass. It is understood that his estimates on the work have been completed.

The Building Owners and Managers Association, which recently announced opposition to the subway, says a satisfactory operating agreement can be made with the Pittsburgh Railways Company, has declared in favor of wharf improvements.

FLOOD WALL URGED

In a letter to City Council the association suggests that the entire amount of the proposed $5,000,000 bond issue be used for such an improvement as a flood wall which might be combined with a crosstown thoroughfare plan providing wide boulevards to encircle the city.

The Building Owners recommend, however, the flood wall plan of the Flood Commission rather than the arched wall and platform suggested by Brown and Snodgrass.

That the city might greatly increase its parking revenues by charging 20 cents instead of 10 cents for the level parking area provided is suggested. The entire project may be built at once or in sections and would employ a large number of men.

River traffic should receive considerable benefit from improved terminal facilities the lettuce states. Present rentals paid for wharfing space by some of the river interests are entirely inadequate, the Building Owners declare.

E. McKeesport Water Firm Sale Sought

Public sale of the property and franchises of the East McKeesport Water Company was ordered by Judge Thomas M. Marshall in Common Pleas Court on petition of Francis A. Wolf, trustee for bondholders. A total of $140,500 in bonds under a second mortgage of 1906 are outstanding, subject also to a first mortgage of 1896, while the company has been in receivers' hands since 1910, the petition recited.

New Clues Studied In McKeesport Blast

Fire Marshal Thomas Pfarr today was following new clues in his investigation of a mysterious fire which destroyed a McKeesport apartment house early Tuesday. He announced last night the blaze was caused by an incendiary.

The fire marshal said he was convinced Dominic Labella and August Shiava, turned over to county detectives yesterday in connection with the case after their conviction in Criminal Court of possessing bombs, were not implicated in the fire.

COX PLANS JOB AID AIR TOUR

Plans for an air tour to cover the entire nation are being made by Father James R. Cox, pastor of Old St. Patrick's Church and Jobless party candidate for President, he announced today.

He plans to fly to the four corners of the land and arouse those who are hungry and without work, he said.

The tour will be made prior to the opening of the Jobless party convention in St. Louis in August, Father Cox said.

"We are not campaigning for either of the major parties. We shall not speak for or against the so-called Republican 'Regulars,' the Independents or the Democrats. We have but one aim—relief for those who are without work and who are hungry."

Dollar a Year's Hardly Enough--Anyone Bid Two?

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Mr. Hoover seems sincere in his desire to be a dollar-a-year-man.

We hope the year ain't 1933.

And at the rate of a dollar-a-year he will still be doing better than most of us.

It will be a nice slogan for the Presidential campaign:

"I know my distinguished opponent is a better man than I am. But I'll work cheaper than he will."

We hate to do it but comparisons are as inevitable as flat feet in a parade. If the President wants for a smacker, what will a Senator work for?

The answer is himself as usual.

As a member of this glorious club we refuse Mr. Hoover's offer. We don't want to wake up some morning and see the watch dog of the Treasury barking at a penny slot machine.

Anyway Herbert's estimate of himself is too modest. Do we hear anybody bid two dollars?

BANKERS URGED TO ADVERTISE

Courageous and proper advertising at this time by every solvent bank in the country would tremendously strengthen public confidence, it was predicted by Edwin Bird Wilson, national financial adviser and president of Edwin Bird Wilson, Inc., New York, before the closing luncheon today of the Pittsburgh Advertising Club's fifth annual Advertising Exposition and Chamber of Commerce Week in the William Penn Hotel.

Mr. Wilson

Declaring that too many banks have discontinued their advertising during the depression, Mr. Wilson said:

"Too many have decreased it. Too many have failed to begin it. The situation calls for the public assertion by banks of confidence in themselves. The now stronger than ever commercial banks can lead the way to business restoration by using this sound method of re-establishing public confidence."

The exposition, featuring more than a thousand specimens of advertising art in all forms has been held in Pirate Hall since Monday. It will close at 10 o'clock tonight. Luncheons with prominent speakers have been daily features, the talks being broadcast from station KDKA.

HELP FOR 162 MORE HOMES PLEDGED

25,794 Families Yet to Be Saved From Hunger; Paul Mellon Gives Talk

Contributions which will cater to 162 more needy families were reported at today's session of the Family-Help-Family campaign workers in the William Penn Hotel.

Today's figures brought the total to 2,206 families out of [illegible] registered [illegible] immediate aid.

Present at the [illegible] luncheon were Arthur Clyde Grubbs, Allen [illegible] and George Wolfe.

[illegible] were several [illegible] the radio talk by R. [illegible] son of A. W. Mellon, Ambassador to Great Britain. Mr. [illegible] has taken [illegible] the campaign and has been present at several [illegible].

REVIEWS CRASH

R. [illegible] Mellon said:

Three years ago we were all in the gay American band wagon floating up the smooth highway of progress and prosperity. We all remember, however, making a very short turn on to a very bad detour. Many were thrown off the band wagon and are still trying to catch up to it by struggling through the mud. It has gone in up to its axles, slower and slower every month.

It will return to the highway again when no one knows, but the riders have sobered up considerably. We have found ourselves suddenly face to face with a terrible crisis, mass unemployment, with its inevitable train of helpless poverty, despair, painful and slow death from starvation and exposure. In Alleghenies County 28,000 families are in need. They must be fed.

CAMPAIGN GOAL

"All funds raised will go to the needy families—there being no expense attached to either the campaign fund or distribution of relief, which will not be either privately underwritten or absorbed in the ordinary cost of operation.

CITES EMERGENCY

"I know that practically all of you to whom I am talking have already helped materially in many ways. You are already caring for many families, you provide as much employment as possible, you have given to the Welfare Fund, but I repeat, this is a stark emergency. We must help these people at whatever sacrifice to ourselves."

Women leaders under Mrs. F. C. [illegible] made substantial progress yesterday in completing their [illegible] organization. Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, head of the [illegible] workers, reported that more than 100 women attended a meeting Tuesday night in McKeesport.

Mrs. Sara Lavine, leader of the [illegible] groups of women, reported that an East End headquarters has been opened in the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, Amberson [illegible].

Work for Idle Urged In Return for Relief

A warning against pauperizing thousands of unemployed in Allegheny County by providing [illegible] instead of requiring work in return was issued by social workers yesterday at a meeting of the Community Council.

Several speakers declared idleness more than hunger caused trouble in times of industrial depression. The organization went on record as opposed to direct relief when employment could be offered.

A [illegible] cases have been brought each week to the attention of welfare organizations since funds of the Allegheny County Emergency Association were exhausted.

84 New Cases Put Under Quarantine

The City Department of Health today reported these new cases in quarantine: Scarlet fever, 13; diphtheria, 2; measles, 42; whooping cough, 8; chickenpox, 7; mumps, 2; and pneumonia, 5.

30-Hour Working Week On City Jobs Urged

A plan to place all employees of contractors hired by the city on a 30-hour week basis, as suggested by the American Legion, will be laid before Council Monday, President John S. Herron said today.

The plan, according to Charles W. McGinnis, vice chairman of the Pennsylvania American Legion Unemployment Committee, is in accordance with the employment campaign being sponsored by the Legion throughout the nation.

If Council acts favorably President Herron said, a clause limiting working hours would be inserted in all municipal contracts. Any workman, McGinnis said, who has part time work aside from his employment with contractors, would have his time on city work reduced to bring the total within the 30-hour week.

McGinnis told Council's committee on hearings yesterday that the plan would give jobs to hundreds. He said:

"Pittsburgh is the only city in the United States that has a stagger system of employment in effect at the present time. This is a gratifying thought."

COUNCIL SPLITS ON SHARPSBURG VICE CHARGES

Meeting in Uproar When Member Accuses Others Of Protecting Resorts

Charges that borough councilmen knew that speakeasies and vice resorts have been operating in the borough, and that certain councilmen wanted them to continue to operate, threw the meeting of the Sharpsburg Council into a furore last night.

The charges were made when Councilman John P. Lennon opposed the report of Police Chief Samuel Fair that the borough had been rid of all questionable establishments, Lennon said:

"Gentlemen, I heard the secretary read Chief Fair's report to the effect that all the joints here are closed. I understand that certain members of Council insisted that these places be closed. I also understand, however, that there are others who want these places open. This was decided at some mysterious meeting about which I have been unable to learn anything."

All the councilmen tried to speak at the same time. Alfred Pontella, president of Council, rapped for order and declared:

"There was such a meeting, and it was at this meeting that we ordered all of these places closed. The meeting was attended by Lawrence Bragg, Leo Horstman and Joseph Terasi, members of the police committee, and myself."

Lennon interrupted and said:

"Well, some of these places are running today. What about it?"

Terasi told Lennon:

"Well, if you know about these places why don't you do something?"

Lennon answered:

"I haven't the authority to do anything; that is the police department's job. If the police don't do something, we've got to get a new police department."

Chief Fair, who was seated in the audience, interposed:

"This town has been closed up. No place that is questionable is open now."

Horstman suggested that the state police be brought in.

The flareup came after an unusually quiet meeting, during which it had been expected that a report would be made on the explosion which damaged Horstman's office two weeks ago. Horstman explained that it was a gas explosion, but Chief Fair, in his report to Council, described it as a bomb plot, but said he was unable to learn anything about it.

WILLOCK HEARS CANDIDATES

Speaking at an Independent Republican mass meeting in Granish Hall, Willock, last night, Dr. Thomas M. Heard, of Mt. Lebanon, outlined the chief points of his campaign for Congress in the Thirty-fourth District against Guy Campbell. Dr. Heard, indorsed by the Independents, is a veteran of the Spanish-American and World wars and a physician. He recently completed a term as illustrious potentate of Syria Temple, Mystic Shrine.

Other speakers were the indorsed candidates for the General Assembly in the Twelfth Legislative District, John R. Herring, Thirty-second Ward, formerly Overbrook Borough; Ronald L. Thompson, Mt. Lebanon; H. C. A. Hofacker, Coraopolis, and Edward Lee Blagel, Crafton. Clarence B. Nixon, candidate for delegate to the Republican National Convention, also spoke.

Dr. Heard advocated stimulation of all industry by a huge program of building to eliminate the depression, which he considers the major issue of the campaign. While he has declared himself for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, Heard believes that other issues are paramount. He is personally active in behalf of the whole Independent slate, including Gen. Smedley D. Butler. Last night he said:

"Give the nation work and the budget will take care of itself."

GUFFEY FOES OPEN FIGHT

Combined to fight what they term "Guffeyism" in Allegheny County Democratic politics, the campaigns of Malcolm McDonald for Democratic County chairman and the slate of uninstructed delegate candidates to the national convention are being carried on from Independent Democratic headquarters, Sixth and Liberty avenues.

In announcing the fusion today, John M. Henry, chairman of the McDonald committee, and Charles Alvin Jones, directing the uninstructed delegate fight, said:

"While the campaign for uninstructed delegates was undertaken independently of any other local contest, it has become increasingly evident, since Malcolm McDonald became a candidate for county chairman, that both contests involve a fight with Guffeyism."

Joseph F. Guffey is backing a slate of delegate candidates pledged to vote for the party primary preference among presidential candidates, with their activity directed toward the nomination of Gov. Roosevelt, of New York.

Judge Kent said Williams was a graduate of Huntingdon and Morganza reformatories, and had been convicted 24 times. He sentenced him to serve from 10 to 20 years on each of four charges. Eldridge Davis, 19, was acquitted.

BANK ROBBERS BIND SCORE

MEDFORD, Okla., April 14.—(AP.)—While one of two robbers held a score of citizens, including a policeman and deputy sheriff, in the lobby of the First National Bank of Medford, his companion looted the institution of about $2,500 early today.

At about 1 a. m., the men seized the town's night telephone operator and forced her to call the citizens and officers to the bank, apparently in an attempt to prevent an alarm. Then they severed the wires running from the telephone exchange.

As the various persons arrived at the bank, the robbers seized them, bound their hands and herded them into the lobby. Then, while the one man took charge of the captives, the second labored with an acetylene torch for three hours to open the safe.

Kaleidoscope of Characters Seen in Life Is of Great Interest—Fay King

By FAY KING

The kaleidoscope of characters one sees in life is of never-ending interest.

Those so brave in the face of poverty and despair.

Those so foolish in important places.

Gentle failures who could not be heartless to gain success.

Mere youths with the responsibility of fatherless families.

Sons of wealth whose dissipated, wasteful lives inspire poor boys who would like to do likewise, to resort to crime to get the means.

Women of wealth who in some ways are charitable yet are relentless in demanding the instant dismissal of an "impertinent" employe.

The endless greed of those whose gains have been so great.

The love and sympathy which sustains the poor in times of trouble.

The rich who have everything—but health.

Wedding Regalia

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I am to be married soon, an evening wedding in church, and my dress is to be sleeveless. Is it necessary to wear gloves?

2. A dinner is to be served at a local hotel. Is it proper for me to continue wearing my veil, and if so, when should I remove it before leaving? I will not have an opportunity to change into traveling clothes immediately. Would it be proper to wear a shawl? DIANA.

Brides wear gloves with their bridal dress when they consider that the formality and type of the dress demand gloves to complete the harmony and unity of the costume. Nowadays most wedding dresses are made with long, tight sleeves, and with these short gloves are usually worn. Most brides consider that the long sleeves give a better "ensemble" appearance to the costume. And personally, I like long white soft suede gloves to be worn when a sleeveless dress is worn.

2. If the wedding dinner is to be served in a private dining room or suite of rooms in the hotel the bride wears her wedding regalia until she leaves to change to her traveling dress. If the "feast" is to be served in the public dining room she would more appropriately change to her traveling suit before she goes to the dinner. The wedding regalia is too conspicuous, I think, for a public dining room.

Copperware

Fill the copper kettles with boiling water and rinse out thoroughly before starting to clean them. They will polish much more quickly.

Household Hints

When preparing a mustard plaster use the white of an egg instead of water and the plaster will not blister.

Rub sewing machine oil stains with lard, allow to stand for at least three hours, and wash out with cold water and soap.

A good substitute for cream can be made by beating together the white of an egg and a mashed banana.

Before frying slices of tomato, sprinkle them with a few drops of vinegar, to keep them from getting broken and "squashy."

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

A new coiffure that is not unlike the old pineapple bob has suddenly come into favor. The hair has a middle or side parting. Tresses all over the head are cut to a length of three inches, just enough to form stand-up ringlets. Very cherubic, if you ask us. Sweet for the little dollies, but a bit too infantile for full-sized gals.

Young girls need no astringent lotions other than cold water as it runs from the tap. Or a brisk ironing with an ice cube now and then.

Bowed legs, knock knees and fatted calves are not dodged in the public eye, thanks to the fact that the high priests and priestesses of fashion gave short skirts the cold shoulder. For bowed legs in the adult there's not much to be done. Knees knock when eyes wander on the inner side of her little dogs. Fatted calves from themselves don't show up when they canter five miles daily in the regular course in gym work, though lifting up on the toes and coming down slowly has a way of deleting adipose tissues from feminine shanks.

Contract Bridge -:-

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

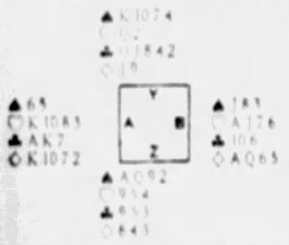
By E. V. SHEPARD

Most Hands Are Commonplace

About half the deals should yield a game contract for some player. The late Ernest Bergholt calculated the following chances for holding hands of specific strength, counting the joint 26 cards of the declaring side: Able to win 4-odd, 455; 5-odd, 114; small slam, 16; grand slam, 1.

Slam holdings are few, and holdings affording especial reward for great skill are not numerous. Ordinary sound bidding and play answer the purpose in the majority of cases. More than anything else luck decides who is to win it any session. Doubtless luck evens up in the long run, but even several hundreds of rubbers may not even the luck.

The hand given below appears ordinary, but it offered a reward for plain common sense.



A's hand was too strong to pass. He made an opening bid of 1-No Trump, second hand. Y passed. Having two biddable 4-card suits, B overcalled with 2-Hearts, which A raised to 3-Hearts after Z's pass. To show that he held only four trumps, B shifted to 4-Diamonds, but A bid 4-Hearts, believing that 10 tricks could be more readily won than 11 tricks.

Z led his 9 of clubs, dummy won the trick. The K of trumps was the next lead. The declarer had been wondering whether he should finesse the next lead of hearts, but his problem was solved by Y's play of the Q upon A's 3. His Ace won. One more heart lead and all adverse trumps were pulled, leaving one trump with A and the other with B.

Expecting to find the five missing diamonds divided 2-3 between opponents, B ran off four tricks in that suit. Two spade tricks had to be given the adversaries; Y led his Q of clubs at the eleventh trick and A's Ace won the ninth trick for the declaring side.

The twelfth trick was a ruff of A's last club by B and dummy trumped the declarer's third spade for the last trick. A-B made five-odd at hearts, just the same as they would have won at diamonds, but giving them a higher trick score and one trick over their contract of four. At hearts A-B scored 170 points total, while at diamonds their score for winning 11 tricks would have been only 100 points. Commonplace as the hands are they exemplify the rule that when the assisting hand has equally good support for each of two declarations shown by partner, unless the latter shows a preference for one of those declarations, the same number of tricks can be won at either make.

Before tomorrow, see how many tricks Y can make at spades on the hand below. The opening lead was the J of hearts.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

If You Want a Clear Skin Take Care of Your Health

I believe that common skin disorders cause more distress than any other human ailment. There is no physical pain. The distress is caused by embarrassment and mental anguish.

Dr. Copeland.

In a healthy, well nourished individual the skin is smooth and free from sores and pimples. This healthy condition of the skin is maintained by proper action of the internal organs.

Minor skin ailment are caused by digestive disturbances, faulty elimination, lack of proper food and exercise and overindulgence in sweets. The individual element enters into this problem. We are not alike. Food which causes skin eruptions in one individual does not harm another. Some persons are sensitive to sea food and others are not.

Medical authorities agree that constipation is a common factor in most skin disorders. Poor elimination permits poisons to accumulate within the body. The skin aids in excreting poisons from the body by means of the sweat glands. When too heavy a burden is placed upon the skin the complexion is impaired.

If you are sensitive to certain foods you should avoid them. The diet should include plenty of fresh vegetables and fruits. Avoid all fried and greasy foods, sweets, pies, pastries and condiments. Drink at least six to eight glasses of water every day. A daily bowel elimination is essential.

The skin should be kept clean by daily bathing. It is best to use a pure, non-irritating soap and warm water. This keeps the pores clean and allows for normal excretion of sweat and waste products.

Do not be satisfied to apply ointments to the skin. For complete cure in these cases remove all points of infection. Infected tonsils should be removed and all infected teeth extracted. Even though pain is not present, have the teeth X-rayed to determine whether they are infected.

Persistent skin disorders should be treated by a physician. Advice given you by friends is well meant, yet it may do more harm than good. Each case of skin disorder requires individual attention.

Bear in mind that there are hundreds of forms of skin eruptions. They are caused by different things and require different treatment.

ONE SOAP that does the work of TWO

Here's a soap that soaks heavy cottons clean—yet protects silks!

At first many women could hardly believe it. "What?" they exclaimed. "Can we use the same soap for heavy, grimy cottons and fine silks?" Now they're singing the praises of the new improved Chipso Flakes.

A new kind of soap

For the first time, these women have a hard-working laundry soap that soaks stubborn dirt out of towels, play-clothes, boys' blouses—and at the same time actually preserves the original color and life of their daintiest silks and finest woolens! Now they have a speedy dishwashing soap that actually keeps hands smooth and soft!

Now you won't have to sort out your dainty underthings, the children's Sunday frocks, for special washing with a special soap. You can wash them in Chipso's rich creamy suds, and later use the same suds for heavier, grimier things . . . less rubbing, brighter colors, whiter clothes!

Your hands prove it's safe

Remember, a soap that roughens your hands when you wash dishes is hard on your clothes. It will make materials "tender"—wear them out before their time. But Chipso keeps your hands smooth, soft, young-looking. You know it cannot harm delicate colors or fabrics.

Chipso's rain-soft suds take the dirt out and give you a wash to be proud of. Everything will wear longer.

Your grocer has the new Chipso now. It comes in the same blue box with the yellow stripe, but inside the flakes are finer than ever.

"QUICK as lightning, GENTLE as rain"

SAFE FOR FINE THINGS

QUICK FOR DIRTY CLOTHES
Chipso makes clothes as white —washes as fast—as strong powdered soaps.

Don't endanger your clothes with soaps which you cannot trust no matter how attractively priced. Clothes cost money. Don't expect just any box labeled "soap chips" to give you Chipso's extra-rich suds, Chipso's safety. The few cents apparently saved on the price of cheap soaps can easily be "penny wise, pound foolish"—when you pay the price of ruined clothes, roughened hands, and lack of real suds for your money.

HAVE YOU TRIED CHIPSO LATELY?

Two children, Mary Lou Garland and Charles Guthrie, in colonial costume, served as pages and also stressed the Washington Bicentennial note in the publication.

NEW ENSEMBLES PRESENT A WIDE RANGE OF CHOICE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, April 14.—If you are thinking in terms of an ensemble this spring, then you should have little difficulty in finding the model of your dreams. For we have seen so many ensembles at the early spring opening and almost every model had some individual characteristics, some inherent charm all its own. For general wear the ensemble consisting of a printed frock with a plain coat, or a monotone frock with a figured coat is recommended. But for more formal wear, the frock and coat of plain, unfigured material is the thing. Some of the ensembles match in color if not in fabric, others have such slight points of relationship that one has to take for granted the fact that the models are really ensembles. But still, as long as the coat and frock are posed and worn together, the costume is an ensemble. We liked best the lovely matching ensembles made for afternoon wear. Soft frocks in soft colors with coats of matching hue, fur trimmed, are always lovely and have a cachet of smartness that is so desirable. Such ensembles are offered by many houses this spring and are finding a ready sale. In fact, many models of this type included in the collections had been sold before they were officially shown, as they had been created for clients who favor this type of outfit.

AS A WITNESS to the charm of the real afternoon ensemble as done in monotoned fabric, we present a drawing showing a most admitted Maggy Rouff model. Heavy crepe de chine in a soft gray-beige is used for the dress. Like many models in this collection, the bodice is draped in ample, soft folds and caught down at left side by two hooks of gray galalith. The wide sleeves end midway between elbow and wrist. Though fitting snugly over the hips, the skirt flares in deep soft folds at the lower edge.

THE FITTED COAT is of duvetyne, matching the color of the dress. It is double-breasted with galalith buttons stopping at the waistline. In lieu of sleeves is a large cape gathered in to the back side seams, as seen in the reflection. This gives a dolman effect. The cape is edged all around with a border of matching Greenland fox.

Dingy Yellow Disappears Overnight

EVEN if your teeth have been dingy and yellow for years, and faithful care has failed to remedy this unfortunate condition, Kolynos with its unique technique will soon make them clean and attractive. In just 3 days you'll see a great change. Your teeth will look 3 shades whiter.

There's a very definite reason why Kolynos cleans and whitens teeth so remarkably. This double-strength dental cream—utterly unlike anything you've ever used—contains two important ingredients. One—the best and safest cleansing agent known—literally foams into and cleans out every tiny crevice, erases tartar and removes yellowish acid spots. And the second ingredient strikes at the source of most tooth and gum troubles. It kills millions of germs—190 million in 15 seconds, according to tests—that swarm into the mouth and, if neglected, cause decay, discoloration and gum diseases.

Decide to have sound, gleaming white teeth and healthy gums. Start using Kolynos—a half-inch on a dry brush, twice daily. In 3 days a glance at your teeth will tell you why this dental cream is winning thousands of new users every week—your teeth will look 3 shades whiter. Try a tube of Kolynos—buy a tube today.

LACK OF VETERAN CATCHER HANDICAP

IT DIDN'T TAKE long for trouble to develop from a source about which Pirate rooters had felt apprehensive ever since the start of the training trip. The main uncertainty as to how the Bucs would shape up this year has hinged on the showing of the youthful catching department, and those who feared that the club had taken on too much young blood in a branch that, more than any other, calls for experience and steadiness, saw their fears partly confirmed yesterday by the costly slips of Bill Brenzel behind the bat.

Bill Brenzel

Just the Coast League recruit gave the Cardinals two runs in the third inning on a passed ball, and in the ninth record his collision with Glenn Spencer, when both sprang after Pepper Martin's chop, was the break that opened the way for the champions' five-run rally and turned what had looked like a certain Buccaneer victory into a galling defeat. With an experienced mask man back of the plate, that collision probably would not have occurred. He would have called the play for himself or kept out of Spencer's way.

ONE BAD DAY should not lose the confidence that Brenzel has a bright future. Young players are boys, mistakes and the Buccaneer brass has no doubt Virdon's error in the fifth before the club gets settled. Bill yesterday's happening proved to show again that a team with an old head behind the receiving department is working under a handicap.

The most desirable arrangement is to have one veteran and one up-and-coming youngster to handle the regular backstopping duties, so that the older man can be used behind the bat when a young pitcher of limited experience, such as Spencer, is working on the rubber. The Pirate situation is all the more complicated because Earl Grace, the most experienced of the three catchers, is a left-hand hitter and cannot be used against southpaw pitching such as was faced for seven innings yesterday, without weakening the attack.

SOME CONSOLATION FOR local fans in the loss of the first two games of the season by the Reds was the work of Tony Piet. If Tony can keep up the pace at which he has started second base is one position originally uncertain about which there may be no occasion for worry.

In the first and second contests of the year Piet not only starred around the midway by accepting the unusual total of 19 fielding chances without a bobble, but he was also a big gun on the offensive, knocking in five runs and making three hits in eight times up for an average of .375. Incidentally, Gus Suhr also is off to a pleasing start with four hits in eight times at bat to lead the club in batting with a mark of .500.

IT IS PLEASING to note that the cold weather which has played hob with the early games has hardly swung one of the big league chiefs, John A. Heydler, around in support of the point argued by many fans for years—that the baseball season is opened entirely too early and might wisely be put back two weeks. The weather is a gamble at any time, but particularly so in the first part of April. The one drawback would be a late closing, running the world series past the middle of October. The only solution would appear to be the cutting of the championship schedule from 154 to 140 games.

Harry Geisel

WHEN THE PLAYERS of the St. Louis American League club planned to put one over on the enemy in the new season by working in a trick bat, they failed to take Umpire Harry Geisel into consideration. He nipped the plot in the well-known bud.

Aiming to disconcert the opposing fielders and pitcher, Secretary Willis Johnson of the Browns, conceived the idea of having black stripes painted lengthwise on the bats. But when Goose Goslin stepped to the plate with a striped club in the first inning of the opening game against the White Sox, Umpire Geisel ruled it illegal and would not allow it to be used.

THERE IS NOTHING in the rules to prohibit paint on a bat. They stipulate only that it must be round and of hard wood, not more than 42 inches long, and not more than 2¾ inches in diameter at the thickest part, with the use of twine or a granulated substance allowed on the handle to a depth of 18 inches.

But Geisel declared it was against the spirit of the rules and contrary to the baseball principle of fair play that trick batting was as much out of order as trick pitching. So he ruled out the bat and it is expected other umpires will follow suit unless the Browns go to league headquarters and get a ruling that they are within the law. Geisel will be recalled by Pittsburghers as having refereed the 1931 world championship match between Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochrane here last fall.

"ONE OF BASKETBALL'S greatest drawbacks is a faulty officiating system" says Johnny Freund. "Games ought to be worked from the ends of the court instead of from the sides. A couple of weeks ago, Al Sieck and Beggs Snyder, two of our oldest and best officials, handled a game according to my suggestion and complimented me on it. We three had talked it over before the game and I had suggested that they work the ends instead of the sides, so that one of them would always be in front of the play and the other in the rear, giving them less space to cover and enabling them to get a better view of the whole situation. They followed out my ideas and the officiating was the best I saw all season. In this way, the officials work in harmony, whereas under the other system they are continually crossing each other. From the ends, the officials just keep moving backward or forward with the progress of the ball. They will not be guessing on the plays."

ANNOUNCEMENT THAT Tiff Wehrli Josh Williams, former Pitt halfback, has signed at Beaver High School as football coach, brings to mind the unusual number of regulars on the 1928 Panther team, on which Williams was a sophomore, who have gone into coaching and made a success of it.

Three of them—Mike Getto at the University of Kansas, Luby DiMeolo at New York University, and Alec Fox at the University of Pennsylvania, are first assistants at large institutions, having charge of the line in each instance, and have been getting excellent results.

RAY MONTGOMERY, line star; Joe Donchess and Eddie Schultz, reserve end, and Eddie Baker, quarterback, are all on the Pitt coaching staff at present, and Honey Guarino coached for a year at John Carroll University in Cleveland.

Two others, Jimmy Rooney, sub halfback, and Tony Uansa, regular left halfback, have been coaching independent teams for the last two seasons, the former tutoring the J. P. Rooneys and the latter the Rox Rangers.

Mike Getto

STILL ANOTHER STAR of 1928, Tom Parkinson, the crack fullback, also did some independent coaching besides playing for Stapleton in the National Professional League last year. About the only regular member of the 1928 outfit not connected with football at present is Charley Tully, tackle, and it is rumored that he will sign with a West Virginia high school as coach in the near future. In addition, there was Pat Scanlon, reserve end, who coached Arnold Prep during 1929 and 1930 before he gave it up to devote more time to his dental practice.

By JULIUS LEVIN

The opening games of the season wiped out by snow and cold weather, the local high schools will attempt to inaugurate their baseball and track campaigns this afternoon.

Schenley, winner of the Section I and City League championship last season and South Hills, winner in Section II and runner-up for the city crown, both are scheduled to swing into action today.

Schenley invades Allderdice for the feature attraction in Section I. Peabody plays at Allegheny Vocational in the other Section I contest.

Langley will be the opponent of South Hills on the Warrington avenue playgrounds in the Section II headliner. Carrick entertains Oliver in the other Section II contest.

Only one Junior League contest is up for disposal this afternoon, Knoxville engaging Latimer in a Section II fray.

Track and field meets are scheduled in every one of the four sections comprising the City Junior League. Among the seniors, three intersectional meets are carded. Peabody invades Perry, Schenley is host to South Hills, and Allderdice entertains Carrick.

The senior and junior scholastic volley ball championships will be decided tonight on the Fifth Avenue High School courts. Schenley and Fifth meet in the final match in both divisions.

Yesterday Fifth senior team defeated Allderdice, 16-4, 15-3 and Carrick, 15-5, 15-9. Allderdice juniors won over Westinghouse, 15-8, 15-12, and South, 15-12, 15-5. Peabody juniors won from South, 11-15, 15-7, 15-12.

SEEDED COURT STARS WIN

PINEHURST, N. C., April 14.—(AP.)—Seeded stars swept through the fourth round of the North and South tennis tournament here yesterday with the loss of but one member from their ranks. Bryan Grant, the former national clay courts champion, fell before Dr. Eugene McCauliff, of New York, by scores of 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Arriving late, Elsworth Vines, the national champion, won his second, third and fourth round matches after drawing a bye for the opening match.

One of the stars of the unseeded contingent, Vilmer Hines, of Columbia, S. C., holder of numerous state titles and former junior champion, was eliminated in the fourth round by Berkley Bell, New York, a veteran of many battles.

John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, the defending champion, Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., and Francis X. Shields, New York, won their fourth round contests without difficulty.

Allison defeated Aydelot Minor, of Pittsburgh, 6-2, 6-1.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: A STARK TALE OF HORROR—The steamer "Mayflower," plying the 12 miles between Barry's Bay and Combermere, Canada, foundered in a howling storm in Lake Kaminiskeg on the night of November 13, 1912. There were 12 men aboard and a coffin containing the body of a man named Brown, who had died in Yorkton, Sask., and was being taken to Combermere for burial. They clung to the coffin of the dead man as it floated off the deck, and held grimly on until it grounded on an island. The survivors told a tale of stark horror, of being buffeted by the waves in a blizzard in darkness on their raft of death.

TALKING BAN IRKS RABBIT

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP.)—Little Rabbit Maranville is a sociable soul, and there is nothing he values quite so highly as friendship.

Now he's afraid he's going to lose not only the friends, but the friendly enemies he has developed in 20 years of infielding around the National League circuit.

"It's that new rule the league put in—no talking to friends in the stands, no talking to rival ball players, no anything friendly and pleasant any more," he wails.

"What are they trying to do to baseball, anyway? It's getting like office work, and you can't even talk to the rest of the clerks.

"Just think of it, if I walk over to the stands and say hello to my wife, I get a $5 fine slapped on me. And can you imagine what will happen to me if I didn't?"

CHILLYSAUCE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The Pirate defeat in the opening game was "one of those things." The Buccos hustled, but were outclassed nearly all the way, so they could go to bed without running afoul of nightmares. But the philosophy and traditions of the diamond do not allow the spirited athlete to so forget a setback of the kind sustained in the second battle with the Cardinals. You can mark it down that Gibby and his Buccos did a lot of tossing in their sleep last night.

When you fail to win with a four-run lead in the ninth, you should not be good company the remainder of the night, or for that matter, until you square the account, in the bright lexicon of fighting performers of the diamond. It's not in the wood to pass up the post mortems when you fail under such conditions. It isn't done and probably won't be as long as baseball is played.

Glenn Spencer had the Redbirds eating out of his hand until his collision with Catcher Bill Brenzel in the ninth inning. The game went haywire at that point and Poor Glenn had to accept defeat. About two years ago, the same little righthander with the "swifter" dropped a 2 to 1 game to the Cardinals in a battle wherein he yielded only two hits.

The Freebooters are apt to be an in-and-out ball nine for some time. They have the inherent talent, but will lack teamplay owing to the presence in the lineup of so many kids. You will note it was one of the kids who ran into Spencer in the ninth. The Cardinals, on the other hand, are champions in many respects; for instance, they were quick to seize the little "break" and turn it into victory. Incidents of this sort give one a better appreciation as to why they are topliners.

Gibson is drawing the frowns of Lady Luck, but perhaps the elusive dame will smile upon the Canuck soon again. George probably will hesitate before using Larry French against the Redbirds, who love to smack the southpaws, including Lefty Grove. French is of that species of pitcher that has unbounded confidence. Larry is to be admired for thinking he can stop any club in the land, but exuberance doesn't always win. A certain school of pilots, which includes as a member the redoubtable John McGraw, plays the percentage in picking pitchers.

Now this same French is feared by McGraw and all his players, just as the Redbirds flutter around in confusion when Heinie Meine walks to the practice mound. McGraw makes no secret of his fear of French; he reflected his attitude strikingly in a battle at Forbes Field last summer.

It was Carl Hubbell's turn to face the Pirates, and it was not French's trick that afternoon, but Larry prepared to pitch, nevertheless. When the Little Napoleon saw the change of strategy he switched his plans. Hubbell is one of the best lefthanders in the game and quite frequently puts the kibosh on the Buccos, but McGraw saw the home team a percentage favorite with Larry up, and Hubbell was shelved for the day in favor of a recruit. More than that, McGraw instructed Carl to leave for New York that night in order to be ready to open at the Polo Grounds in a couple of days. And French charmed the Giants to defeat.

EARLY OPENING A. L. CHOICE

CHICAGO, April 14.—(AP.)—There is no movement in the American League for a later opening date, President Will Harridge said after reading the proposal by President John Heydler, of the rival National League, that the inaugurals should be delayed for two weeks at least, because of cold weather.

"The opening of a baseball season is just a big gamble with the weather anyway," President Harridge said. "You never can tell about the elements. We might delay the opening for a week or two and then run into cold or wet weather while we watch two weeks of fine weather go by.

"Last season the Cubs opened their National League season in Chicago and had six or more fine days for baseball, but when the White Sox tried to open their home season days later, they were frozen out and had to wait.

"Furthermore, a later opening date would mean more doubleheaders for Philadelphia because of the Sunday baseball law."

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP.)—Coach Richard Glendon, '17, has announced the boating of the Columbia University freshmen crew that will engage the Kent School eight Saturday at Kent, Conn. It includes at No. 4, Paul Jackel, of McKeesport, Pa.

ST. LOUIS, April 14.—Two down to the world champion St. Louis Cardinals in their current inaugural series, Manager George Gibson's Pittsburgh Pirates are primed for the third game of the string here today, and will face the Cards with young Bill Harris on the mound. The effective hurling of slim Glen Spencer yesterday, even though the Buccos were beaten, has caused Manager Gibson to bank on another right hander. The Cards are expected to counter with Paul Derringer.

The Buccos had one all ready to pack away yesterday when matters went awry and the Redbirds nosed out a 9-to-8 victory in the ninth inning, and after two men were out, too. The Pirates galloped into the final frame with a four-run lead, and Spencer, who had been befuddling the Cards through the previous eight rounds, seemed destined to hang up a triumph on the occasion of the first start of the season.

BUCS TAKE LEAD

The Pirates collected three runs in the second, two more in the fifth and added three more in their half of the ninth. St. Louis scored twice in the third, and once in the sixth. Bill Hallahan and his portside benders have been comparatively easy for the Pittsburgh hitters.

Then came the final half of the ninth and the old works went in for the Buccaneer cause. The sensational finish, which was promoted by some sound slugging, also was aided by a couple of queer plays on the part of the Pirates.

Collins, who is replacing Chick Hafey for the Cards, opened the inning with a single. Then up came Pepper Martin with a weak tap, just away from the plate along the first base line. Ordinarily it would have been nothing more than an easy out, but Spencer and Bill Brenzel both attempted to field it, and in doing so crashed and tumbled to the ground. Collins in the meantime going to second and Pepper to first.

Wilson attempted to sacrifice, and bunted the ball toward third. Spencer ran over to field the pel-

Nick Altrock — Baseball's Humorist — Says:

BOSTON, April 14.—Well, the season is off and you can't tell anything by the early standings.

Nick Altrock

In the first week a team can drop from 1.000 to .167 like a Peruvian bond.

And no fan should be disappointed at the early stride of his team. I remember back in the old days when our Washington club always occupied the back pews of the league. It was the opening day of the season and the Washington pitcher passed the first man to face him. And as the batter jogged down to first, a fan yelled:

"Well, I see we've got another rotten team this year."

That's what you'd call the height of pessimism or something.

VETERANS SHINE IN MAJOR LEAGUE TUSSLES

SENATORS BEAT BOSTON; TRIBE, CUBS WIN

Associated Press

Where the rookies were shining in baseball training camps a few days ago, the old established players are shining now in the first days of the major league campaign.

On Monday at Washington it was Heinie Manush, in his tenth season in the American League, who took the honors. Tuesday Babe Ruth, a man of 18 big league summers, was the star, and yesterday Manush was back in the limelight along with several other veterans.

FRISCH'S HIT WINS

The other big guns who helped entertain the few shivering fans who saw the games of the season's second day included Frank Frisch, who has had 13 seasons in the big leagues; Pat Malone, of the Chicago Cubs, an established star who is not far short of 30 years old; Al Thomas, of the White Sox, and Lloyd Waner, a veteran of five campaigns.

Manush gave Washington a 7-to-6 victory over the Boston Red Sox. He hit a home run in the ninth inning with two on base to top off a four-run rally.

Frisch hit a double with two on base to provide the champion St. Louis Cardinals with the runs that beat Pittsburgh, 9 to 8.

Malone, warming the chilly air with his famous fireball, got the better of Owen Carroll, of Cincinnati, in a mound duel and gave the Cubs a 3-to-2 victory.

Although outhit 12 to 9, the White Sox made it two straight over the St. Louis Browns, 7 to 3.

FERRELL GOES LIMIT

Wesley Ferrell pitched 11 innings in weather so cold that it held the attendance at Detroit's first game down to 15,000 and came out ahead, 6 to 5.

Cold weather stopped two games in the National League, where the Phillies were scheduled to play the Giants and Brooklyn was to play host to the Braves, and one in the American, which called for the Yankees to play the Athletics at Philadelphia.

TOURNEY NEARS FINAL ROUND

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 14.—(AP)—One upset was recorded yesterday in the Mason and Dixon golf tournament and the player who created the first disturbance in form was eliminated.

John E. Hines, of Garden City, N. Y., defeated David N. Tallman, of Minneapolis, 2 and 1, to reach the semi-finals in the only match which did not go according to form.

Roof Gilson, of Jackson, Mich., who yesterday upset R. A. Stranahan, of Toledo, O., was defeated yesterday by John B. Ryerson, of Cooperstown, N. Y., defending champion, by a 3-and-2 margin.

A third favorite, H. H. (Tex) Newton, of New York, the medalist, defeated William H. Hyde, Ridgway (Pa.) star, 4 and 3.

Everett G. Livesay, of Columbus, O., the only left-hand golfer in the tournament, reached the semi-finals by defeating Edmund A. Guggenheim, of Roslyn, N. Y., 4 and 2.

In the semi-final matches today Newton will meet Livesay and Ryerson will play Hines.

Buddy McArthur loses Ace Martin in a 10-round bout at Saginaw, Mich., April 21. Jimmy McArthur will be in the semi-final with Chuck Woods and Paul Oyer in another eight-rounder with Morrie Sherman.

The card has been completed for the benefit boxing show to be held at Sabin, O., tomorrow night, as follows: Frankie Wine vs. Harold Scarnes, 10 rounds; Mickey Schomes vs. Jack Kelly, 8 rounds; Panther Brown vs. Jackie Coogan and Al Walker vs. Bobby Reed, 6-rounds each, and Joe Hendrick vs. Young Stopps and Young O'Neil vs. Jack Heslip, 4 rounds each.

P. T. A. PLAYING CARD TO BE SET SOON

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Work upon drafting of the 1932 Pittsburgh Tennis Association Inter-Club League competitive slate will be begun within the week, according to word of P. T. A. President J. Phillips Davis in announcing selection of Frank S. Smith, of Edgewood; Austin Famariss, of College Avenue; H. M. Rinehart, of Stanton Heights, and J. M. Dixon, of Rockwood, as members of the schedule and sanction committee of the district net body today. P. G. Sullivan, P. A. A., is chairman of the card-compiling group.

Application for a Section II playing franchise in the local loop was received yesterday from a recently organized Bellevue outfit led by W. W. Ortner, former Latrobe diamond and racquet luminary. The North Boroughs aggregation should, if accepted, plug nicely the lower division gap left by the elevation of Bob Lamplus' 1931 Bellevue troop to the upper sector, wherein it may cavort as Shannopin Country Club representative, provided that a project now pending along such lines proves successful.

As matters stand, the Inter-Club circuit lineup for 1932 will present comparatively few changes from the array of a year ago. The lone alteration in Section I replaces College Hill of Beaver Falls with the Bellevue-Shannopin crew, the Edgewood, P. A. A., South Hills, Stanton Heights, Westinghouse, University Club and Mount Lebanon squads remaining on the scene as of yore. Section II appears likely to feature Westinghouse Seconds, Duquesne Library, College Avenue, Washington Heights, West Penn Power, Rockwood, Y. M. H. A. and Bellevue-Ortner.

South Hills will not sponsor a secondary host this summer. Possibility is also entertained of the return of Minnetonka Canoe Club and Canonsburg Tennis Club to the fold after absence since 1930.

HARRIS TO FACE CARDS TODAY

let, but in his haste could not grip it and the bases were loaded.

The Bucs managed to get two men retired with three runs scored, but with two men still on the runways, Frank Frisch crashed a double to deep right centerfield and two runs came across, giving the Cards the ball game.

The Bucs contributed some dazzling play to the contest. L. Waner and Tony Piet gave brilliant performances. Lloyd at the bat, getting three doubles and a walk in five trips, while Tony, besides got a pair of doubles, handled 11 chances without a slip.

Gus Suhr continued his hitting, getting two singles, which contributed to the Bucco attack, and in the eighth he made a diving catch of Jim Bottomley's liner that brought applause from even the Cardinal fans.

SPENCER BRILLIANT

Spencer was brilliant until the fatal ninth, and for the first eight frames limited the Redbirds to five safe hits.

The Cardinal attack was led by Charley Gelbert, the usually light-hitting shortstopper, who collected three safe hits. Watkins and Collins had two each. Every Card regular with the exception of the pitchers, Hallahan and Lindsey, hit safely at least once.

In the event he decides to shift pitchers today, Manager Gibson likely will call upon Erv Brame for hurling duty. Earl Grace will be behind the plate again.

Schneiders Win West Penn Title

A rally in the second half enabled the Ray Schneiders to defeat the North Siders, 33-28, in the final game of the West Penn League championship basketball series at Social Hall last night. The victory gave the Schneiders the title. Previous to last night, both teams had won two games.

The North Siders led, 14-13, at half time, but a third-period rally gave the victors a 21-16 advantage. Crum, of the North Siders, led in the scoring with 13 points. The lineup:

U. S. WIGHTMAN CUP NET TEAM SELECTED

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP.)—Led by Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, captain, four of the five players who won the Wightman Cup at Forest Hills last summer will defend it against England at Wimbledon in June, the United States Lawn Tennis Association has announced.

Helen Wills

Helen Jacobs, Mrs. Anna Harper and Sarah Palfrey were named to help Mrs. Moody attempt to make it two straight for the United States and six victories in 10 series for the International tennis trophy. The team members will remain in London after the matches scheduled for June 10-11, to compete in the English championships.

Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, donor of the cup and captain of last year's team, was the only member of the 1931 squad not named again.

MRS. WIGHTMAN OUT

Mrs. Wightman, who is a member of the selection committee, found it inconvenient to go abroad. Dr. Sumner Hardy, of California, is chairman of the committee. The other member is Julian Myrick, of New York.

Mrs. Moody and Miss Jacobs already have planned extensive European tours leading up to the matches.

The California Helens probably will carry the chief Wightman Cup burden, as they did last year, each playing two singles and pairing for a doubles match. Mrs. Harper probably will play the other singles match and pair with Miss Palfrey in the doubles.

U. S. HOLDS EDGE

The Wightman Cup contests were started in 1923 with the United States winning 7-0. Other victories were scored in 1926, 1927, 1929 and 1931. England won in 1924, 1925, 1928 and 1930.

Mrs. Moody has played in all but two of the nine contests and has lost only twice in singles. Both her defeats occurred in the 1924 series, when she lost to Kitty McKane Godfree and Mrs. Phyllis Covell.

Freund Attacks Changes in Rules

The new basketball rules are all wet and considerably short of a yard wide, in the opinion of J. J. Freund, Jr., leading local authority on the sport, in a talk over WCAE during the weekly program of the Trained Seals of the sports department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Freund attacked the new non-stalling rule and the elimination of the pivot play and outlined a number of changes that might be made for the benefit of the game.

Other speakers were Carl Shatto, Julius Levin and Harry Keck, sports editor of the Sun-Telegraph, who was master of ceremonies.

SPORT VIGNETTES

They say Jim Londos, the wrestling champion, eats only two meals a day, but I'm telling you what I saw with my own eyes and heard with my own ears. Jim was reclining, fully clothed, on the bed of his room in the hotel on the afternoon of his match at Motor Square Garden, which drew the first capacity house in the history of wrestling in Pittsburgh. His manager, Ed White, Ray Fabiani, the promoter, and your reporter were chatting with him.

Jim Londos

Jim was for ordering up three bottles of buttermilk, a dish of hearts of celery, brown bread and some broccoli. Manager White interposed:

"Why, you just ate a hearty breakfast an hour ago," he exclaimed.

"But," shot back Londos, "that was an HOUR ago, and wrestlers must eat."

I asked Jim, one of the most scientific wrestlers in the sport, about his theory of wrestling.

"Well, to me, it's pretty much of a game, and an interesting one," Jim replied. "You try openings, are blocked and try something else. Finally, if you are more alert and experienced than your opponent, you will catch him off his guard and get the opening you seek. Then you force him to the mat and go to work for the fall. That's what wrestling is, and the fans here will come to realize it after they see more good matches—a series of feints, leads, blocks and holds.

"It isn't all brute strength. The man who has only strength and size to recommend him stands little chance against speedier, more scientific foes. Take my case, for instance. Years ago I decided that the best defense was an unrelenting offense. I keep moving, attacking from various angles, am always in action. The reason is that I want to keep my opponent guessing, keep him on the defensive. I cannot afford to let him get set. The moment I let him get his mind off defense he has a chance to think of preparing an offense. Do you get the point? It is the same as in boxing, where the thinking boxer outgenerals his opponent and keeps him from organizing an attack."

When you talk to Londos and get his ideas of the sport he has mastered so well and then see him perform on the mat you can appreciate why he is the champion among a hardy group of men, most of whom are much larger than he is. His exhibition of breaking headlocks and flying mare holds against Speers was one of the finest bits of defensive wrestling ever shown here. He simply stands still, braces himself with his hands on his legs near the knees and lets his opponent wear himself out tugging and pulling and then shoves him off. It has taken long practice to perfect this trick, and no other wrestler has shown a proficiency in this line to equal Londos' exhibition.

A thorough knowledge of holds and when and how to apply them makes Jim just as good offensively. And perfect condition and an active mind do the rest. There is as great a gap between Londos and the average wrestler as there is between a good boxing champion and a fair preliminary boy. Londos is the personification of co-ordinated skill, championship class and confidence.

Jim told a good story about his early days as a grappler, years ago, when he was wrestling out of Canton, O., and was glad to grab whatever matches he could obtain. One of his favorite stops was Woodlawn, Pa., now Aliquippa. There he was the favorite of the fans and invariably packed the arena. The promoter treated him well, as befitted a good attraction, and Jim made a lot of money.

One night Londos returned to Woodlawn to find some 2,000 persons gathered about the wrestling arena—all on the outside. A spokesman approached him and said:

"Jim, you know we always paid our money to see you when we had it. Times are bad now. The plants are down and there's no work. We have no money. How about letting us in to see you, anyway?"

Londos pondered and said he'd have to see the promoter. He put the proposition up to the sponsor of the show in just the manner in which it had been presented to him. The promoter's reply was:

"Well, it's up to you, Jim. I can't pay you if they don't pay. Will you wrestle?"

Jim did. The doors were opened wide and all of the free customers crowded inside to see the show. Londos never regretted the fact that there were no gate receipts. He still retains a warm spot in his heart for old Woodlawn. By Aliquippa or any other name, the tender memory remains the same.

STRONG LINEUP PLANNED BY HOMESTEAD

By TOM BIRKS

With Johnny Asomonga named playing manager and Tubby Norum captain, there is every reason to feel that Jack Fertig and his Homestead Aces are going places this season.

The fact that Norum is captain will help the West Field aggregation considerably. Norum will play second base. He is one of the real veterans of the district and his baseball brain is going to help Fertig no little.

The Aces were nosed out in a hectic finish in the West Penn League race last fall, but that has not deterred Fertig one bit. Fertig probably has won more pennants than any sandlot manager in the district.

Ben Haldy was his classy shortstop last season, but the Eastern Pittsburgh player is located now around East Brady, and whether he will return here for baseball is a question. Should Haldy remain away, the Aces will be looking for another short field star.

Lefty Leech will cover first base. Norum will be at second and Gurney will be back at third base. If the inner works should not go, the Aces much trouble.

Fertig has acquired a catcher from Turtle Creek for this season. Lefty Horst, a portsider, and Dick Garlow, a catcher. Johnny Asomonga also will take a turn on the mound, and his brother, Mike, will be back.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Recover — Local List Irregular

MOST OF EARLY STOCK SLUMP ERASED

Market Recovers After Sliding to Fresh Low Level; Some Gains Made

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP.)—The stock market danced about rather erratically today.

A sharp slump at the opening, suggestive of forced liquidation such as selling out of bank loan collateral, carried prices into new low ground for the cycle but pressure gave way toward midday and a flurry of short covering erased most of the loss. A few small gains appeared.

The recovery was marked by a runup of more than 2 points in Peoples Gas, accompanied by a similar jump in Commonwealth Edison in the curb. American Telephone dropped 4 points in the morning to a new low since 1921 at 103, then recovered. Extra losses of 2 and 3 points in Santa Fe and Union Pacific were replaced by gains of about a point. United States Steel recovered an early decline of 1¼, which had carried it temporarily into new low ground. Standard of New Jersey, a soft spot yesterday, was persistently firm, rising a point. Lambert, similarly, got up 2 points. General Motors and General Electric were stable from the start.

The situation facing the Insull utility holding companies attracted much attention in Wall street. The sharp upturn in Peoples Gas and Commonwealth Edison coincided with a statement issued by Samuel Insull in Chicago that whatever may be the troubles of Middle West Utilities, Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and Corporation Securities Company, the three holding companies, the financial stability of the three large operating companies was not affected.

Bullish quarters in Wall street felt that the financial community was slow in recognizing the potentialities of the Federal Reserve System's new and more aggressive credit expansion program. The statement of Governor Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board before the House Banking and Currency Committee—"I am hopeful that we are now at a point where we will be able to hold the line"—was also regarded as encouraging. Some important banking quarters felt that the success of the credit expansion program will depend upon the prevention of further serious shocks to confidence but acknowledge that it may be highly effective if we are able to hold the line."

There was little further change in the money market but there was considerable expectation that the New York Federal Reserve Bank might reduce its rediscount rate to 3 per cent either this week or next. The Bank of England made no further change in its 3½ per cent rate but its weekly statement showed improvement in its reserve ratio.

WHEAT SCORES ADVANCES

CHICAGO, April 14.—Wheat prices rose early today influenced by failure of expected rains and by reports that the condition of domestic winter wheat crops, southwest was deteriorating daily. Further stimulus to buyers resulted from announcement that Italy would raise her wheat import quota 10 to 25 per cent beginning April 26. Opening unchanged to ½ higher, wheat afterward scored an all around advance. Corn started unchanged to ¼ off and subsequently tended upward.

Helping to lift wheat values was a statement by a leading crop authority that it was now apparent the possibilities of harvest yields were shrinking as the season advanced.

Reactions from early top prices for wheat were ascribed in selling due to weakness of securities. On the dips, however, wheat buying became aggressive at times and appeared to be based not only on bullish wheat crop advice but also on delays in seeding of spring wheat with indications of at least a moderate decrease of spring wheat acreage.

COTTON PRICES IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, April 14.—Cotton prices were irregular today at an advance of 1 to 7 points on covering and scattered buying. May sold up to 6.70. Offerings increased right after the call and May sold off to 6.57. White October reacted from 6.67 to 6.60 with active months showing within a point or two either way of yesterday's closing at the end of the first half hour. The crop report, which came out after the market closed, showed a condition of 68.5% on July 1 against 66.6% last year. It was without apparent effect on the market.

The early decline extended to 6.56 for May and 6.58 for October, about 1 to 3 points below yesterday's closing quotations on the active positions. Volume was exceptionally light. Prices turned easy and the market after was quiet and fairly steady on some further trade buying and covering. At midday prices showed gains of 2 or 3 points from the lowest.

Refarming its offerings of 8 per cent eight-year bonds, the company states that approximately $5,000,000 has been sold and the proceeds used to reduce bank loans and purchase money obligations from $3,040,000 to $4,000,000.

CHICAGO, April 14.—(AP.)—Samuel Insull issued today a statement that the three large operating companies of the Insull group—Commonwealth Edison, People Gas, Light and Coke and Public Service of Northern Illinois—were not involved in any troubles that might beset Middle West Utilities Company, the Insull Utility Investments and Corporations Securities Company.

CHICAGO, April 14.—(INS.)—A five-year receivership may be invoked to handle the difficulties of the Middle West Utilities Company, it appeared today.

Following conferences with Samuel Insull, founder of the $2,500,000,000 holding company, bankers declared there was little likelihood that the concern would be able to meet a $10,000,000 note maturity falling due June 1.

It was said the company also appears unable to meet other pressing financial demands, including similar funded maturities, in the next few years.

GERARD CITES BEAR RAIDING

NEW YORK, April 14 (INS)—No effective safeguard against bear raiding in the stock market has been provided by the stock exchange's new regulations on the loaning of customers' stocks to the short interest and bear raiding has undoubtedly contributed to the recent drop in stock prices, So declared James W. Gerard, noted diplomat and attorney, in an exclusive interview here today.

Challenging the statement of President Richard Whitney to the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, Gerard said that in his opinion the recent fall in stock values was caused in part by "conditions," but accelerated by short selling of the leaders by professional speculators, Said Gerard:

"There has recently been introduced into the New York State Legislature a bill making it a felony with a fine of $5,000 or two years imprisonment for any broker to loan his customers' securities without special written consent. This bill which I favor implies no blanket authority to lend stocks, but requires specific instructions in each individual case. Adoption of this measure and its rigid enforcement would, I am sure, do much to improve the short selling evil."

'COTTON BELT' SALE FOUGHT

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The Missouri Pacific and the Texas and Pacific Railroads have filed suit at Frankfort, Ky., in an effort to prevent taking over of the Cotton Belt Railroad by the Southern Pacific.

Notice of the suit was filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission last night.

The Missouri Pacific and Texas and Pacific, it was disclosed today, alleged that the decision of the commission approving the action was contrary to the evidence and seek to have the case reviewed in the courts.

The Southern Pacific was expected to take over the 3,100-mile Cotton Belt today.

Forbes

America Can't Be Kept Down Very Long

By B. C. FORBES

Mr. Forbes

INSTEAD OF dwelling today upon any of the doleful phases of current conditions, suppose we glance at a number of different thoughts in the hope that perhaps one or two of them may generate a modicum of consolation or courage:

AXES for taxes!

NO RICH. No riches.

CONTACTS are useful; contracts essential.

EACH DAY is a challenge these days.

SETBACKS strengthen determination to go forward.

OPPORTUNITY doesn't await only those who wait.

DON'T TRY to run away from life.

PLAYING THE game's the thing, not the score.

NO VALLEYS, no mountaintops.

WE CAN become only as great as our faith.

STRUGGLE strengthens.

HE WHO reaches the top these days will stay.

LIFE ISN'T empty for the cheerful.

MERGE INTELLIGENT courage with enterprising action.

YOU CAN'T coast along the road to success—it's uphill.

LOSE WHAT you must if you must; but confidence, never!

FEAR IS failure—failure of faith.

CLOUDS always pass.

INTEREST IN principles pays dividends.

BE CONTENT with things as they are and there you are—not!

TO ARRIVE, strive.

FEW MEN become shining lights without first having had to undergo a lot of rubbing the wrong way.

A GOOD country, like a good man, can't long be kept down. America is still a good country.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, April 14—Heavy selling of United States government issues was the feature of the bond market today, practically all of the federals again reaching new highs for 1932. Foreign obligations were mixed.

U. S. March Cotton Consumption Up

WASHINGTON, April 14—The Bureau of the Census reports 488,655 running bales of lint cotton were consumed in mills of the United States during March, compared with 359,018 bales in February and 490,309 in March, 1931. The total consumption for eight months, ended March 31, amounted to 3,569,944 running bales, against 3,384,135 consumed in the corresponding period of the 1930-31 season.

Atlantic & Pacific Sales Are Lower

NEW YORK, April 14—Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company estimates sales for five weeks ended April 2, 1932, at $88,917,192, compared with $104,742,750 for the like period in 1931, a decrease of 15.1 per cent.

Tonnage for the five weeks is estimated at 520,198, against 552,825 tons a year ago, a decrease of 5.9 per cent.

Mystery Illness Grips 300 In West, Doctors Baffled

SANTA PAULA, Cal., April 14 (AP)—Health authorities were making exhaustive tests of food and water here today in an effort to trace the source of a mysterious illness to 300 Santa Paula residents, more than half of them children.

Many of those stricken are confined to bed.

Those taken ill complained of extreme nausea and symptoms similar to those of ptomaine poisoning.

Dr. John Crawford, city health officer, said it was not likely that milk could have caused the widespread illness, since the victims are clients of several dairies.

Dr. J. A. King, Ventura County health officer, is aiding Dr. Crawford in chemical tests of water and vegetables in the belief that the latter, sprayed with poison to kill insects, may have caused the sickness.

Many of those stricken were taken ill while at work and school yesterday. Most of the victims showed improvement today.

Vote Fraud Charged In Illinois Primary

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—Although trailing United States Senator Otis F. Glenn by about 150,000 votes, Newton W. Jenkins, of Chicago, candidate for the Republican nomination for Senator, issued a statement predicting ultimate victory for himself by 50,000 votes in Tuesday's primary and charging fraud in the election.

Meanwhile, tabulation of votes in downstate districts added hourly to the pluralities of the nominees for Governor, Republican Len Small and Democrat Judge Henry Horner.

Advertisers Ask Hoover to Meeting

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—President Hoover was invited today to the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Advertising Federation of America, to be held June 19-23, in New York.

The invitation was delivered by Gilbert T. Hodges, president of the federation and member of the executive board of the New York Sun, and by Edgar Kobak, advertising director of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company.

Tour Interrupted, Murray Perturbed

KANSAS CITY, April 14 (AP)—Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma, stalked impatiently about the train shed at the Union station here today, fuming and visibly perturbed by an unrevealed development that interrupted his speaking campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Al Smith's speech scoring Roosevelt failed to interest him, he remarked.

Cause of Gardener's Death Undetermined

Cause of the death of John Sauro, 38, Italian gardener, of 902 Dixon road, Sewickley, whose body was found beside Glen Mitchell road, Aleppo Township, March 27, was given as "undetermined" at the inquest today.

The jury was unable to decide whether Sauro, who died as a result of a skull fracture, had been beaten to death or struck by an automobile.

Don't let them count you out!

A cheerful helper is not enough—not if you are "run-down" physically

"Mother, I do wish you were well and strong . . . you always look tired—what did Daddy mean this morning when he said your blood count was low?"

So often we hear of a "low blood count." Few escape it. Overwork, worry, diet neglect, colds and such often reduce to the danger point the red-cells in the blood—those precious workers that build and sustain the body.

When a lowered blood count is allowed to continue, that "tired feeling" takes hold . . . vitality is reduced . . . normal resistance to infection and disease is lacking.

It isn't fair to expect one to like work or to enjoy play when in a "run-down" condition. Without plenty of rich, red-blood-cells there could be no strong, sturdy men, and healthy, beautiful women.

Ordinarily you don't need to stay in bed or go to a distant health resort to restore the red-cells and hemoglobin in your blood . . . usually S.S.S. will do it right at home and while you are up and going. In most cases it is effective from the start . . . improvement is progressive. Put it to the test if you want to regain your vitality . . . firm flesh . . . a clear skin—so necessary to charm and personality.

If you require a tonic you should by all means try S.S.S.—this long established medicine acts by stimulating the secretions of the stomach . . . reviving the appetite . . . aiding digestion . . . regenerating hemoglobin . . . restoring the red-blood-cells—and builds greater resistance against infection and disease.

S.S.S. popularity due to merit

S.S.S. helpfulness is illustrated by this fact—our records show that nearly one-half of those who have taken it, for the first time, do so upon the recommendation of some friend who has been benefited. Can there be any stronger recommendation for its merit and usefulness than this?

A distinctive thing about S.S.S. is that it is made from fresh roots, barks and herbs . . . it is readily absorbed by the system. Another thing is that its efficiency has been proved by scientific tests and by its use for more than 100 years. It is a safe Tonic to take.

S. S. S. is an economical way to health. Try it yourself. Get S.S.S. from any drug store. In two sizes: regular and double—the latter is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment. It may be the means of bringing better health and happiness to you.

FAKE CHARITIES PROBED HERE

Supt. of Police Peter F. Walsh today ordered a city-wide investigation of unauthorized charity organizations.

His action followed testimony in Morals Court today by Carl Fisher, 18, of 1917 Allegheny avenue that he was a solicitor for the American Charity Workers, of 809 Tobin street, and was permitted to keep one-third of his collections as his fee.

City Detective James Kay told Magistrate T. D. Jones that the organization was not registered with the City Welfare Department.

Fisher was arrested in the Allegheny avenue rooming house, police said, with Clara McLaughlin, 19, and her sister, Margaret, 17, of 1506 Steadman street. The girls had been reported as runaways by their mother and the search led to the rooming house. Fisher said he had obtained the girls positions as collectors for the charity organization but the snow and cold had prevented them working.

EIGHT IN HOME DIE IN FIRE

ALTOONA, Pa., April 14 (AP)—Seven children and a woman are dead, victims of a fire which shortly before midnight destroyed the home of Michael Dillon at Hensheytown, near here.

The flames wrecked the house while Mrs. Dillon, with her baby, was visiting in Bellwood, a nearby community. A neighbor, Mrs. Goldie Krutner, 29, with her two babies, was spending the night in the house with the five Dillon children. No one in the house was saved.

The dead children are: Roy Charles Krutner, 2 weeks old; Levi Krutner, 3 years old; Anna Dillon, 10; Lillian Pearl Dillon, 8; Edna Grace Dillon, 6; John Lawrence Dillon, 5, and Minnie Dillon, 3.

The flames were discovered by a motorist driving on a highway near the burned dwelling. Other motorists joined in efforts to enter the house, but the flames thwarted rescue efforts.

Two Convicts Flee Prison in Kansas

LANSING, Kan., April 14 (INS)—Chester Morris, 21, and John Ware, 40, long-term convicts at the Kansas State Prison here, escaped early today amid a flurry of bullets fired by guards.

CHAPTER VII

"Really, Mr. Colt," Lola caroled, suddenly entering into the living room, and closing the boudoir door behind her, "you mustn't pull such a long face. It isn't worth it. Nothing is, you know."

She laughed—a low, humming laugh. Then, walking very near to Colt, she suddenly put her hands on his shoulders and kissed him on the cheek. As he stared at her, too startled to speak, Lola turned and walked on towards the guest room.

"Miss Carewe," now Colt's voice cracked like a whip, "don't go in there alone."

"To hell with all that," was Lola's sudden, fierce response. "I want my cigaret case." Before anyone could stop her, she had entered the guest-room and closed the door.

"Oh, don't excite her, Colt," begged Vincent Rowland. "She's perfectly safe in there. Nothing can happen to her. Let her calm down."

At that instant a woman screamed. It was a harsh cry, choked with horror. The awful sound of it rose to a piercing height and then was throttled off. There was a crash like the fall of a body to the floor. In one instant Colt's hand was on the knob and he flung back the guest-room door.

FOUND ON FLOOR

On the floor of the guest chamber lay the body of Lola Carewe. The soft lamp-light on since we were last in the room, bathed her white, still lovely face in a warm glow of light. What had happened to her? Was she in a faint, or dead? If dead, from what cause?

While Colt knelt beside her these riddles sparkled like fireworks in my bewildered brain. People came running down from other rooms. Suddenly I heard a sound which haunts me even now. From somewhere in the penthouse a clock chimed three brazen strokes.

We were in the presence of a mystery that soon would have a nation by the ears. No wonder that Thatcher Colt was resolved from the first to solve this mystery above all others—this crime committed against all his precautions.

The scene in that guest-room transformed now into a chamber of fantastic mystery, is graven indelibly on my memory.

Lola Carewe's body was sprawled rigidly on the floor, contorted almost into the form of a question mark. She was still wearing her French flannel bathrobe, tied with a sash and buttoned. Her cloud of black hair was tousled and disarranged. On her pretty face was a livid flush. At the right corner of her lips glistened a spot of blood. The eyes were wide open and fixed in a glaze. She did not seem to be breathing.

COLT INVESTIGATES

Beside the still figure of the woman knelt Thatcher Colt, his face was stern, his black eyes narrowed. His fingers played around Lola's wrist, seeking her pulse. Listening, he laid his ear against her heart. Then, very deliberately, the chief brought his nostrils close to the parted lips and sniffed audibly of her mouth.

We who were watching him could not tell from his manner if indeed he had discovered an odor of poison, the purpose of that last grim action. In stiff attitudes we stood there watching. I was close to Colt. Dougherty was bent over on the other side of the girl, his red hands spread over his knees, his popping blue eyes fixed on her in bewilderment.

In the doorway suddenly appeared Mrs. Carewe, her features white and pinched with fright against the gray horizon of her hair. She ran forward, fell beside Lola and kissing her frantically, cried to her to open her eyes. Dougherty led her back to the door. Peering around the edge of the door was Vincent Rowland. The attorney's eyes were curved slits, and the fingers of one sleek old hand worried at his whiskered chin. Beyond were clustered a group of startled faces—the maid, the butler, and our woman detective.

DOCTOR STILL ABSENT

Colt's voice, crisp, precise, broke the silence.

"This girl seems to be dead, Chung—did Dr. Baldwin say he was coming?"

Before he could reply, Mrs. Carewe, who had insisted on remaining on the threshold, took a quick step back into the room, repeating:

"Dr. Baldwin? Why did anyone send for him?"

Still kneeling beside the unmoving figure, Colt looked across at the Chinese butler inquiringly.

"He promised to come at once, Mr. Commissioner. He will be here in three instants."

Then Colt looked at Mrs. Carewe.

"Do you object to Baldwin?" he asked.

"What does it matter now? Get a doctor—any doctor—for my poor Lola."

From the other room came the bland and placid voice of Chung.

"I supplied the name of Baldwin to the Commissioner, madame. I hope there was no impropriety?"

Without answering, Mrs. Carewe sank into a chair and buried her face in her arms.

Thatcher Colt, still on his knees, sat back and in one calculating glance appraised the posture of the body and its position on the floor. There being no chalk at hand to make an outline, Colt did the next best thing: by the position in the pattern of the rug he fixed firmly in his mind the exact position of the body. This was the work of two seconds or less. Then Colt slipped his strong arms under the body. Rising easily to his feet he carried his burden to the bed. There he laid her down tenderly and once more fingered her pulse and laid his ear against her heart.

TRIES TO SPEAK

"She is breathing," he announced in a low voice. "Her pulse, which had seemed to stop is now quite evident. It is getting stronger every second—almost too strong. Why doesn't that doctor get here?"

It was like watching a dreadful resurrection. The rigid form of the mysteriously stricken girl became mobile before our eyes. Spasms and convulsions shook the entire body and croup-like sounds came from her throat. Clearly, once or twice, so it seemed to me, the swollen lips and tongue tried to speak, but failed. Then just as suddenly, the anguish ended, and the body once more lay silent and inert.

"The pulse is gone again," said Thatcher Colt. "I wonder—"

But he did not finish that melancholy speculation. Moodily he stood looking down on the unfortunate Lola until the front doorbell sounded in a long-drawn buzzing summons. In all his unbent height, Colt faced the group at the door.

"You will now leave us alone, please," he ordered. "I shall ask that Mrs. Carewe, Mr. Rowland and Miss Lox remain in Miss Carewe's boudoir. Chung, answer the door, and then stay close by."

Vincent Rowland took the old mother's hand and with a courtly sympathy led her away. After them trudged Miss Lox and Chung, the butler straight, rigid and indignantly self-possessed. But hardly for a moment were Colt, Dougherty and I left alone. At once we heard outside a brief murmur of voices and then, framed in the doorway, stood the physician, Dr. Hugh Baldwin, an athletic gray-haired man with young, inquisitive eyes. Colt once compared him to a collie, in his restless and well-mannered strength. In his right hand Dr. Baldwin carried a black medical case. Two long strides brought him to the bedside, as Colt introduced us and explained how we had found the girl and her recent symptoms. Without a word Dr. Baldwin bent over the quiet form. Like Colt, the physician felt of her wrist and listened at her heart.

"She is still alive," he promptly announced. "But there is just a tiny spark left. We shall see—"

With swift but deliberate movement Dr. Baldwin opened his bag and drew out a hypodermic syringe and needle from a container filled with alcohol. While we waited in silence, he broke the tip of an ampule which I suppose contained some restorative drug. This dose was drawn up into the syringe. Then, reaching across the body of Lola, the doctor seized the arm farthest away from him. Pushing back the sleeve of her bathrobe, he found a place in the crook of the elbow and quickly moved his skin there with a couple of quick strokes. Swiftly Dr. Baldwin inserted the needle under the skin, squeezed the syringe, withdrew it and slowly rubbed the medicine in.

Immediately her pulse picked up. He declared as with his free hand he laid aside the syringe and needle. He was counting pulse-beats meanwhile, his head to one side in an absorbed attitude.

"What is that you have given her?" asked Thatcher Colt.

Adrenalin.

"So you think it's a heart attack?" inquired Dougherty dubiously.

I fear so. I was formerly Miss Carewe's physician; she has a history of heart trouble."

Colt's eyes closed. For a moment he remained rigid in thought. Then suddenly flashing open his eyes he demanded:

"You would give a certificate of death due to heart trouble?"

"Certificate of death." She is still alive."

Dr. Baldwin's glance was bewildered and slightly resentful.

Once her eyelids fluttered; he moved a trifle his shoulder. Before the last three minutes—

He looked around at us solemnly.

"I have done all that I dare," he said. "We can only wait now—and hope."

Synopsis

Lola Carewe, night club habitue, receives a death threat New Year's Eve. Previously her dog and parrot were mysteriously killed. District Attorney Merle K. Dougherty suspects Lola of being the "brains" of the jewel thief ring that has baffled the police. Although her husband, Gaylord Gifford, died practically penniless, Lola lives in luxury. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt places a guard in Lola's penthouse apartment, warning her that she must not be alone in a room at any time. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, Chung, the butler, Eunice, the maid, and Vincent Rowland, an attorney, are present. In the living room the commissioner finds a bag belonging to Christine Quires, Lola's guest. It recently had been used that night, yet Lola informs Colt that Christine is at the Lion's Paw, a roadhouse, where Lola was to have joined her. Colt is surprised to find Mrs. Carewe's room in strange contrast to the surrounding wealth. Lola's own boudoir is a gaudy contradiction of the living room's elegance. Lola refuses to reveal the identity of the young man whose photograph adorns her dresser. Five minutes before the death threat dead line, Lola tells Colt she is going into the guest room for her cigaret case.

Now Go On

Colt rushed to the guest room when he heard the girl scream.

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Returns to Work on Her Play

When Mother Graham finished her pompous, self-satisfied little speech I knew not for the first time in dealing with her what the old novelists meant by "mingled emotions." For I experienced a whole set of them ranging from hot anger at her unpleasant little tirade concerning my inability to care for my child because of my professional work to gleeful tinged I am afraid with malice at the success of my ruse to get her to come out into the open and offer to care for Faith during our domestic crisis.

I was suddenly conscious that she was waiting for my answer, and I forced my lips to a smile and my speech to an expression of gratitude.

"That will be perfectly marvelous, mother. It is really the only solution, and you do not know how grateful I am to you."

"There is no need for gratitude," she said loftily. "I am doing only my duty. Please say no more about it. But I wish you would speak to Richard II and Roderick about the ridiculous performance they are giving from the windows. What is the object of it anyway?"

"It's a game they've invented, evidently," I said placatingly. "I suppose they had to do something to while away the tedium of being cooped up here on the second floor. Of course, I added slyly, it would prefer that they go downstairs."

WARNS BOYS

"Under no circumstances," she interrupted sharply, "until Richard and Mr. Underwood have satisfied themselves that there is no possibility of those awful men getting near the house. The small boys must stay upstairs."

Characteristically she did not modify her ultimatum with an "if or an" and or a "don't you think so," but she did not repeat her objection to the dramatic foolery of the youngsters, and I realized with satisfaction that I had effectually spiked her guns as far as that part of my problem went.

"If you're in a hurry to get back to your work there is no use of your staying around here any longer," Mother Graham said when she had finished her enactment.

I did not wait for any further permission but bidding her a cordial adieu, I went out into the upper hall, shutting the door carefully after me. Then I walked softly around the corner of the hall to the windows where the boys were keeping vigil.

"That's a very good idea that you have there," I said, and their freckled faces glowed. "You can keep track that way of everyone who comes up to the house, but" I tried to look impressively at them "you must be very careful to be quiet about it. You mustn't bother Grannie or waken the baby. Grannie's pretty nervous, you know."

"Yes, we know, and we'll be careful," they answered in a stage whisper, that my mother-in-law could easily have heard inside the room if it were not that she is more than a trifle deaf although she will not admit it.

LILLIAN FINISHES COPY

"Very well then," I said giving each one a pat on the shoulder. Instinctively I know that the young guards did not wish to be kissed at this moment of exultation.

I put up my hand in salute as I turned toward the stairs. "Baby Faith," I exclaimed softly, voicing the "countersign" that they had chosen for the guarding of the farmhouse.

"Baby Faith" they chanted softly, and at the earnest look upon their faces there was a lump in my throat that did not get straightened out until I had gone downstairs, and whipping out the side door had crossed the yard to the studio bungalow in the orchard.

I found Lillian stretched out in a low armchair, a pile of manuscript on the end table at her side and two or three long pages in her hands.

"Don't you dare to tell me anything now," she said imperatively. "I'm almost through with this, and I won't look up again until I finish."

Her words cheered me inexpressibly, and I tiptoed in and sat down in a chair near her.

She put down the last page and looked at me—a long, long look which unaccountably I felt I could not read. I felt my throat go hot and dry. What was her verdict?

If you missed the early chapters of this thrilling mystery story—

"Murder of the Night Club Lady"

you may have the first seven chapters free by writing to the Circulation Department, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. This will carry you up to Friday's installment of the story.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

The shouts and laughter of the members of the Cameraphone chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club were missing last Saturday when more than 300 members held a memorial service for little Billy Cohen, one of the very active members of this chapter, who died March 17.

Billy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Cohen, 1623 Morningside avenue, would have celebrated his tenth birthday yesterday. He was a pupil of the Morningside School, being in the fourth grade.

Harry Seigel, the manager of the Cameraphone, read a letter to the children from Billy's parents thanking him and the children for their kindness at the time of Billy's death.

On the stage, with a spotlight playing on it, stood a single chair draped in black. Many times during Mr. Seigel's talk all eyes were turned to this chair. At the conclusion of Mr. Seigel's talk a little girl from the audience came upon the stage and placed a white carnation on the chair while the cornetist played "Taps."

SCHENLEY CHAPTER

More than 800 youngsters attended the meeting at the Schenley chapter last Saturday. Here are the names of just a few: Edmond Maukonen, Manning Walter, William Joyce, Edward Joyce, Rae Bliss, James Hughes, Margaret Bruno, Ethel Glensky, Geraldine Shaw, Marian Barnes, Gloria Borneman, Richard Rayl, Charles Moninger, Alfred Braden, Billie Lageman, Paul Secher, Irwin Harpern, Pauline Kolesar, Edith Tortorelli, Carol Franklin, James Ferguson, Billy Rodgers, Joseph Crayotta, John Korpa, Harold Redman.

Each of the above youngsters brought one new member to the meeting. These new members are all eligible to attend the big free Sunday show to be held at the Stanley Theater on Sunday, May 15, if they attend only three more regular meetings between now and May 14.

Remember, if you are not a member of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, and you want to join the other boys and girls of Pittsburgh and vicinity at the big free Sunday show on May 15 at the Stanley Theater, go to the manager of any of the Warner Theaters, where the regular Saturday meetings of the Junior Komic Club are held, enroll and the manager will give you your attendance card, together with a membership card and button. Remember, it isn't too late yet.

BIG IDEA No. 3456

To every social problem there are multitudinous answers,
Except this one—pray what becomes of busted down tap dancers?
When eyes grow dim and arches fall (as arches always will)
Do they tap off to an easy chair
—or keep on tapping still?
When they confess to 80 years,
When chins are over lapping—
Do they seek out a chimney nook
—or do they go on tapping?
I think our social structure would be a thing of beauty
If we went in for tapping as a solemn civic duty
The judge would tap up to his bench,
The felon tap to jail—
The bootlegger would blithely tap,
Until he made a sale.
Why, even Al Capone, on gay, enlivened feet,
Would look as harmless as a babe,
A-tapping down the street.
So let's become a nation of tap dancers—it's so sweet
To know the cops can't pinch you for inebriated feet!

—BETTY FISHER.

Another Special Session

It Will Cost the People Little If the Legislators Agree On Their Program in Advance

Unofficial computations indicate that each county will receive under the Talbot act for the December-January period approximately $3.45 for each unemployed person. Disbursements on such a small scale are obviously inadequate, and Gov. Pinchot has accordingly decided to call the Legislature into special session again to appropriate more money for the unemployed. The decision will meet with general approval.

Meetings of the Legislature cost the people of Pennsylvania a good deal of money, the amount depending on the duration of the session. The legislators can save the taxpayers a large part of the expense if they will agree on their program in advance and spend no more time at Harrisburg than is necessary to put it into effect.

This is perceived by Gov. Pinchot. He promises to call a conference of well informed and influential persons to prepare such a program. It is essential, of course, that politics shall be left completely out of the business and that the assent of a safe majority of the members of the Legislature to the relief program be obtained before the special session opens.

In the meanwhile the new information as to the inadequacy of the Talbot appropriation emphasizes the importance of generous contributions to Senator Frank J. Harris' "family helps family" fund.

An Undesirable Plan

The Building Owners Are Right in Opposing a City Bond Issue to Pay a Dole

The Building Owners' and Managers' Association has written to City Council to propose that all the proceeds of the $5,000,000 bond issue to be voted on on April 26 shall, if the citizens approve the issue, be spent on public works.

Whether that can be done is open to question, for the ordinance provides that $3,000,000 of the amount shall be expended in direct relief—that is, disbursed as a dole, without requiring anything from the recipients in return.

The Building Owners are right in opposing the plan to borrow money for distribution as a dole. The bond issue, if approved, would increase the real estate tax, and the taxpayers should get something in return for their money.

Let the subway and Town Hall be built with bonds already authorized. They will furnish work to thousands.

The proposed $5,000,000 bond issue should be voted down.

A Praiseworthy Service

Civic Club Deserves the Community's Thanks for Its Effort to Abate the Political Sign Nuisance.

Notwithstanding Director James M. Clark's warning that the posting of candidates' cards and other political signs in the city, except on billboards, is unlawful and will not be tolerated, the nuisance is reported to be still in evidence.

According to the Civic Club of Alleghenv County, the police remove some signs here and there, "but the flood tide of vandalism soon drowns out the work."

The Civic Club therefore has resorted to another method to save public places and private property from defacement. It has sent to each candidate a copy of the act of Assembly of March 10, 1903, which specifically prohibits pasting, painting, branding, stamping or placing advertisements, notices, signs, cards or posters in certain places, declares such signs a public nuisance which may be removed or abated as such, and provides for a fine of from $5 to $20 for violators.

Every candidate has thus been personally notified of the law and will have no excuse for continuance of the nuisance.

The Civic Club has rendered the community a notable service and is entitled to thanks.

Value of Discipline

Swissvale School Children Give a Good Exhibition in Marching Out After Fire Alarm.

During the war recruits sometimes asked why it was necessary for them to drill day after day in marching and other exercises that were scarcely likely to be employed in the actual stress of battle. The answer was that the drill developed discipline, which was defined in one of the army schools as "the instinctive and instantaneous obedience to orders under any and all circumstances."

Discipline is indispensable in military operations, and it is also useful in civil life, as an incident which occurred in the Hawkins Grade School, Swissvale, yesterday bears witness.

The smell of smoke pervaded the school and a blaze was discovered in the basement. Directions were given for the dismissal of the pupils. In orderly manner, to the rhythm of a march tune played on a piano in the hall, the children marched to safety.

In a situation fraught with ugly possibilities discipline averted a mad rush with its attendant dangers and permitted the pupils to leave the building unscathed.

The Trout Season

The Weather Is Not Auspicious, but the True Fisherman Will Have a Good Time in Spite of It.

The season for trout fishing opens tomorrow, and thousands of persons from the Pittsburgh district will be in the mountain streams at daybreak angling for the speckled beauties.

The weather is not favorable. A certain amount of discomfort will have to be endured, and fishermen will have to work hard and be skillful to catch the limit. But the real fishermen will have a good time in spite of all these things.

An ardent trout angler will find pleasure in wading in the cold rushing stream, in the music of its waters, in its dark pools and rhododendron-covered banks. Half the fun of the fishing lies for the dyed-in-the-wool fly fishermen in their deft fly-casting, and they are sure of that even though the trout do not rise readily.

But good catches are not unlikely, for the streams are well stocked.

Give It Both Barrels!

This Government is spending daily EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS MORE than it receives in revenue.

It cannot long continue to do this and avoid national bankruptcy.

The question of how to raise the needed revenue to meet governmental obligations is the all absorbing topic.

Demagogues have attempted to stampede Congress into a "soak the rich" tax campaign. But this would defeat the very purposes of the tax bill because the rich would place their incomes in tax exempt securities, leaving the burden to be carried by the less fortunate.

Instead of wasting millions in attempting to enforce unenforceable Prohibition, Congress should legalize wholesome light wines and beers and tax the trade to produce at least one thousand millions of dollars yearly.

Then with a general manufacturers' sales tax it could provide another thousand millions and wipe out the deficit.

Wasted Powers

The House of Representatives Has Revealed Itself Indifferent to the Public Interest.

By BAINBRIDGE COLBY

THE most discouraging fact in the financial and industrial crisis, which has us in its grip, is—not the decline in security and commodity values, severe as it has been, not the stagnation of business, not even the prevalence of unemployment, dreadful as that is—but THE REVELATION THAT THE MEANS UPON WHICH WE MUST PERFORCE RELY FOR RESCUING OURSELVES FROM ALL THESE ILLS, ARE FAILING US.

Intelligent and undelayed public action is necessary, if we are to have either relief from our present stringencies, or ultimate business restoration, but the ghastly realization is being driven in upon us THAT THE INSTRUMENTALITIES OF PUBLIC ACTION, TO WHICH ALONE WE CAN TURN, ARE NOT STANDING UP.

We can look only to the government as it is constituted, for action in the general interest. Its powers are ample, but they are being wasted and abused. Congress has failed us.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES HAS REVEALED ITSELF INDIFFERENT TO THE PUBLIC INTEREST AND INCAPABLE OF SERVING IT.

WHY?

It is the same old story—little men, politically self-centered, intent upon one thing and one only, the retention of their office, and willing to ingratiate themselves with the least worthy or reflecting elements among their constituents, AT THE SACRIFICE AND BETRAYAL OF THE COUNTRY.

I WONDER if the average Congressman ever reflects how little a thing it is—just to be a Congressman. At a small luncheon the other day, one of a group of men defied anyone present to NAME A HALF DOZEN CONGRESSMEN. It was surprising to see how long it took to muster six names. There was no disposition to make the game more difficult by extending the number.

Strange—the passion for mere incumbency—and the inability of so many men, whom we clothe with office, to see that broad and unselfish service of the whole people is the only thing that gives to the holding of an office, either dignity or appeal, and makes it worth while.

The tragic obtuseness on this point of so many men whom we elect to office leaves the country in a direful plight.

It is only through congressional action that rescue can be sought from the more serious dangers that beset us. The credit of the nation, the value of the dollar, the power of public borrowing, require a balanced budget. This in turn demands curtailed expenditure and a program of taxation, broad in its base and equitable in its distribution, which will yield the needed revenue, and not impose a destructive or excessive burden upon the nation's upbuilding activities and constructive energies.

WHAT can we hope for if our elected representatives are impervious or indifferent to such considerations—if they are intent only on demagogic ends and demonstrable follies, which will protect their political hides at the sacrifice of the country's welfare?

Will we emerge from our troubles, if continued hold of petty office is the only motive and animating purpose in public life—uninterrupted incumbency, though the heavens fall and the country sinks into despair?

Such a temper marks the collapse of government. If it persists, we shall soon realize that we are working with useless tools—attempting to wage a fight with broken weapons.

WE SHALL HAVE TO FIND SOME WAY—CONSTITUTIONAL OR EXTRA-CONSTITUTIONAL, WITHIN THE EXISTING PARTY SYSTEM, OR OTHERWISE—TO REPLACE SUCH TOOLS AND WEAPONS, IF WE ARE TO SURVIVE.

Perhaps a political coalition of the intelligent and patriotic elements in our citizenship can be achieved.

One thing is certain—the country's true welfare cannot indefinitely be forgotten while faction plays its fatal game to the finish, and demagogues and notoriety mongers go through their costly capers.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Love—In the Machine-Age

The honeymoon used to wane slowly and almost imperceptibly, but nowadays it comes down with a nose-dive and ends in a crash.

An electric cradle-to-key has just been invented. You can do almost everything just by pressing a button these days—except start a man's heart going or stop a woman's tongue.

You may persuade a man that you can't marry him and even assure him that you won't marry him, but once the idea has entered his mind there is no way on earth of convincing him that you don't WANT to marry him.

The Ideal Wife, for these times, is the one who concentrates her energy on keeping up her husband's backbone instead of whining because she can't afford to keep up a lot of "front."

A man never can understand that love is like a secret: the moment a woman discovers that she is sharing it with a lot of others it loses not only its charm but its identity.

"A giggle and two silk stockings do not make a wife," says a philosopher. Oh well, an eyebrow-mustache and a pair of plus-fours do not make a husband. But you've got to take the run-of-the-mill.

Man's greatest charm for woman is his faculty for remaining just a little boy, usually a "bad little boy" who has to be mothered all his life.

Paying alimony is merely settling the bill for the faded flowers of romance—and NO man enjoys paying the bills for dead flowers.

Love may live on hope longer than on gratitude—but it positively thrives and flourishes on a judicious mixture of doubt, curiosity, and discouragement.

* * *

Isn't It So?

He that knows himself to be despised will always be envious.

Bad women have wrecked more nations than war, famine and pestilence.

If people live in the moon they undoubtedly believe the earth uninhabited by reasoning beings, and maybe they are right.

Often a man says he is glad to see another when the contrary is true, but no harm is done as the other man doesn't believe him.

Liberty is a word understood by few. Most men want it for themselves but not for those who disagree with them.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 14.—In those frenzied hieroglyphics distracted people often pencil on tablecloths psychologists are reported to find answers to many hidden perplexities. So I wonder about one left on a cafe table last night reading: "The Great White Way's filth flows."

A waiter questioned revealed his last patron was a pale customer who ate but little and sat staring with chin cupped in his hands. Thus the scrawl may have been an inarticulate version of Arthur James elegiac: "Broadway is a bowl of champagne with roses on top and thorns underneath."

The Broadway heartlessness was hideously stressed during the economic pandemonium. A policeman was forced to scatter a group of curb comedians who were fashioning puns at the expense of the forlorn breadline shuffling toward the evening dole of sandwiches and coffee.

Many of the victims once tasted the warmth of the street's pseudo-cordiality. Their unhappy plight symbolized the philosopher's line: "Going up take Broadway; down Sixth avenue." The famous thoroughfare is intersected only in the success of the eternal now.

Nowhere does the failure so feel the withering scorn of his defeat. The hand that once bestowed the friendly open palm may sheath the knife. Yet few who have mussed up their lives among the tungstens can tear themselves away from the brilliant sham.

They remain hoping for that illusory quality "the break" preferring the dubious recognition accorded the "has been" to the utter anonymity that shrouds the patron of the Bowery lodging house. I know one man who has been out of work three years.

He has had three fairly good positions offered him—two in smaller cities in the Middle West and one in South America. But he prefers to maintain himself in a second avenue hall room and strut in the razzle dazzle. In other words, Broadway has him.

In the same cafe of the hieroglyphics a big shot among bootleggers sat with a bright blond and several others. He is one of the reputed quick-on-the-gat boys who shaves with a blow torch. Suddenly the blond, pointing, cried: "Look he's blushing." And the mug was.

A great American magazine editor turned down William McFee's famous novel "Casuals of the Sea" with this curt rubrication: "Without form but not void; an able, unpleasant, shapeless book of interest perhaps to a few. I would not publish it." All of which may comfort a few moaners over rejection slips.

* * *

One of the brisk humors of another editor was to submit his own fiction effort to the magazine which he edited. It was done anonymously. Every associate gave it a thumbs down comment. It was tried out on other magazines with the same result. Finally it was sent to a book publisher under his real name, was accepted and commanded a whopping sale.

In the white translucence of the asphalted esplanade back of the Central Park Museum, society continues a moonlight roller skating craze. Among skaters are innumerable debutantes and diters social high-ups. It has the happy quality of being cheap and for the moment exclusive, aside from not being bad for the arnica business. One haughty lady was making her way about with short and quick tickety-tack strokes, gazing condescendingly at the world through a lorgnette. Being a low minded dolt, I found myself feverishly rooting for her to go pas-st into a sudden split.

My spiteful reaction to the lorgnette dates to my first week in the city, when I accompanied H. T. Webster to a seat down front at the Globe, wearing a high white attached collar zebra-striped in passionate purple. The conceit utterly fascinated a dowager who singled me out with her lorgnette for constant staring. Webster excused himself at intermission ostensibly to smoke, but never returned, the cur. Nor did I muff the inquisitive murmur of a nearby seat-holder: "What's the collar gag—advertising?"

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

"Often you talk about people failing one another," a woman writes me, "and you say we should not be bitter at such times. But what do you, personally, do if someone fails you?"

Well, lady, being human, I usually get mad—mad as hops! Then sorry for myself—so sorry! But gradually I cool off and try and use a little sense.

Failed me, have they? Well, suppose they have.

Why should I be so surprised and shocked because a friend fails me?

HOW OFTEN HAVE I FAILED MYSELF?

Now surely if anyone should be loyal to me, I myself should be loyal. The other fellow may make a profit by failing me, but I can't possibly profit by failing myself.

All of my success depends on my faithful service to myself. I have a program with myself, just as I would have with any other partner; and this program with myself is the most important thing in my life. It involves things far more precious than money—secret spiritual treasure, peace, pride and power, tolerance and tenderness.

All of these things I must obtain through my partnership with myself.

And I depend on myself as I would depend on no other partner. I feel that I understand myself and can manage myself better than anyone else can understand or manage me. In short, though all the world proves false to me, I should be true to myself.

Yet, what happens?

In spite of all this need of and desire to be true to myself, this is what happens:

NEVER A DAY PASSES BUT I DOUBLE-CROSS MYSELF—SELL OUT MY OWN PROGRAM!

Through laziness—
Through cowardice—
Through stupidity—
Through vanity—
Through carelessness—

Through some secret perversity in me which makes me choose a crooked way, when I might take the straight.

Through all these flaws in my own nature, I betray myself!

I don't mean to betray myself. I don't think I am betraying myself. Often I do not realize, until long after, that I have betrayed myself—but I have!

And though the greatest losses of my life have come through my own faithlessness, I still persist in breaking trust to myself.

And so, when a friend fails me, I no longer rave bitterly about ingratitude—vow to "never trust another living soul."

I turned shamed, reluctant eyes to my own secret record, and I say:

"How can you blame that other one for doing this to you, when you have done this to yourself?

"He had a thousand interests to serve. You had only one—yourself—yet you could not be true to that one interest.

"You blame him because he could not control his selfishness, his greed or his silliness when your happiness was involved. Yet you, who are the first guardian of your own happiness, couldn't control your own cussedness. Then why be so bitter at him?

"Look at the dreadful things you have done to your own life—the opportunities you have passed up; the work you have left unfinished; the beauty you have spoiled; the vows you have broken. All this you have done to yourself. Yet you still can forgive yourself and have fresh faith in yourself. CAN YOU NOT THEN FORGIVE HIM AND HAVE FRESH FAITH IN HIM, WHO HAS DONE SO MUCH LESS INJURY TO YOU?"

What do I say when people fail me?

That's what I say—sometimes.

And the rest of the time—well, I act just as ornery as you do, stranger. For preaching is one thing, and practicing is quite another.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Eager Eyes

The greatest gift the gods devise
Is seeing life with eager eyes,
Always some new and glad surmise.

By springs of hope forever fed,
Advancing with expectant tread,
Utopia looming just ahead!

Those who keep thus a childlike trust
Will never find life harsh, unlust,
Or grieve that roses fall to dust.

They will not mar the joyous spring
Or dim its transient blossoming
With any futile questioning.

Through every changing tint and line
They glimpse the pattern, true and fine;
They sense life's intricate design.

For them no nagging doubt and dread;
With faith their meat and trust their bread,
Utopia always just ahead.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Often you think you d not get half the credit you should for what you have accomplished.

You compare your preparations for life and your lack of opportunities with those of many others who started under the same handicaps and you think you have done mighty well.

Many who started with less have outdistanced you.

But comparing yourself with failures and feeling elated that you did not fail is not showing a very high standard for personal ambition.

It is a sort of vanity, though, that wishes to have those who knew of your poor start, see you at your best now and enumerate your accomplishments.

It is a human trait, but not a nice one, and what you need is a good punch in that ego of yours.
